

Digital Commons is a service of the University of Connecticut Libraries. We invite you to explore the repository and see the future of scholarly communication.

To learn more contact:

Jonathan Nabe, Project Coordinator

jonathan.nabe@uconn.edu

860.486.6688

University of Connecticut

“The establishment of a digital repository at UConn is very exciting for the research community. For the first time, the research output of our scholars will be accessible freely and easily to any one at any time. This is the wave of the future and we are well ahead of it.”

Dr. Greg Anderson

Interim Vice Provost for Research and Graduate Education

Interim Dean of the Graduate School

Professor of Ecology & Evolutionary Biology

University of Connecticut

DigitalCommons@UConn

The Institutional Repository
of the University of Connecticut

<http://digitalcommons.uconn.edu>

This online collection of the University of Connecticut's intellectual output can include:

- Journal articles
- Book chapters
- Working papers
- Conference presentations and proceedings
- Audio and video files
- Theses and dissertations
- Data sets
- And more...

Features of Digital Commons

- Indexed by search engines like Google and Google Scholar
- Allows searching and alerts
- Provides usage statistics
- Offers Personal Researcher Pages
- Supports Online Journal Publication

Benefits of Participating

- Maximize the visibility and impact of your research
- Keep your research at one stable URL
- Maintain multiple versions and link supplementary materials
- Leave the preservation to us