COMMENCEMENT

COMMENCEMENT

I congratulate the members of the Class of 2003 and the members of your families on the great achievement you mark at this year's Commencement.

You graduate from the University of Connecticut at a difficult moment in the history of our state, our nation, and our world. Abroad and at home this generation faces challenges greater in scope and magnitude than those that faced graduates in the recent past. I know that many of you, and many throughout the University community, share the sense of concern for the future that exists in the larger society.

I believe that the education you received at UConn prepares you well to meet the tests that lie before you. Here at this institution, an extraordinary faculty and dedicated staff have endeavored to provide an academic program characterized by breadth, depth, and rigor, and a quality of student life that enables you to thrive in a diverse and rapidly changing world. The University itself has undergone momentous changes during your time with us as we proceed to build a statewide campus appropriate to the needs of the 21st century. I appreciate the good grace with which you bore the inconveniences attendant to the massive transformation of our physical infrastructure, and I value the enthusiastic support you and your families have given to the University through these exciting years.

You now face vast opportunities as well as serious challenges. Education does not end with graduation and I expect that you will continue to learn over the course of your lifetime, and to use your education to build a better life for yourself, for your family, and for the human community as a whole. I hope that in some way you can, as educated men and women, contribute to the eternal struggle to create a world that is more equitable, more peaceful, and more just than the world you inherit from generations that went before.

You have my best wishes for a happy and successful future. I hope that you will always be as proud of this University as we are of you.

COMMENCEMENT NOTES

COMMENCEMENT DAY at The University of Connecticut is a time of ceremony and pageantry, portions of which represent traditions dating back to medieval times. These notes on the history of the University and the commencement ceremony are offered in the hope that they will be of interest to spectators.

THE UNIVERSITY OF CONNECTICUT WAS FOUNDED as the Storrs Agricultural School in 1881 when the General Assembly accepted a gift of money and land from Charles and Augustus Storrs, natives of Mansfield. In 1893 when it became a land-grant college and officially opened to women, the name was changed to Storrs Agricultural College. As the mission of the institution changed, its name was changed in 1899 to Connecticut Agricultural College. In 1933 it became the Connecticut State College. It grew slowly becoming a small but vigorous college with limited undergraduate offerings in agriculture, home economics and mechanical arts. With the development of a university program it became The University of Connecticut in 1939. The first regional campuses were established in 1946 to deal with the influx of veteran students. Today, the University is made up of sixteen different schools and colleges. Through the various agencies of five Divisions and seven Institutes, including forty-nine Special Facilities, Programs, and Centers, the University is privileged to serve many State citizens. The Graduate program began in 1935, and in 1949 the University awarded its first doctoral degrees.

Enormous expansion has taken place over the years together with increased enrollment. Today, the University has an enrollment of over 25,840 students. At Storrs there are over 18,660 undergraduates and more than 5,900 graduate students, representing some 107 nations.

This year, the University will award over 5,145 degrees. Of these approximately 3,400 will be Bachelor's degrees, 1,130 Master's degrees, 172 Juris Doctor degrees, 30 Master of Laws degrees, 53 Doctor of Pharmacy degrees, 32 Doctor of Dental Medicine degrees, 78 Doctor of Medicine degrees, 1 Doctor of Musical Arts degree, and 204 Doctor of Philosophy degrees. Also to be awarded are 38 diplomas in Professional Education and 13 Associate's Degrees in the two-year Ratcliffe Hicks School of Agriculture.

THE COMMENCEMENT CEREMONY, because of the number of graduates, is divided into five separate exercises. The Schools of Dental Medicine and Medicine, located at the University's Health Center in Farmington, and the School of Law, located in Hartford, hold their own exercises. The Commencement procession in each of the three exercises at Storrs is heralded by the ceremonial trumpets which were obtained especially for the University commencement.

THE ACADEMIC PROCESSION begins with the heralding of the trumpeters announcing the arrival of the academic procession. The Bearer of the Mace leads the procession. The University Marshal, identified by his Baton, leads the President, together with the speaker, the Board of Trustees, vice-presidents, deans, other University officials, and faculty. The Mace is presented at the center of the stage while those processing enter and take their places. Once the Mace is placed on the stand it signals the beginning of the ceremony.

THE ACADEMIC GOWNS, HOODS AND REGALIA represent more than elegance or colorful attire. Academic caps and gowns represent a tradition which reaches far back into the early days of the oldest universities of the Middle Ages. The early European universities were founded by the church; the students, being clerics, were obliged to wear prescribed gowns and caps at all times. Caps and gowns were once common forms of clothing and were retained by the clergy when the laity adopted more modern dress. Though some universities here and abroad have other colors, the usual color for gowns in America is black. Hoods are lined with the official color of the college or university which conferred the degree. The velvet edging of the hood varies in length for bachelors, masters and doctoral degrees. The color represents the appropriate degree. Mortar boards (caps) are usually black. The tassel for the Bachelor of Arts, Science, and Engineering may be of color distinctive of the degree, and the tassel for the Doctor of Philosophy may be made of gold thread. The gown and hood of the University Marshal were made specifically for University ceremonies in the official colors of national flag blue and white. The Processional Marshals wear blue velvet "beefeater" berets; the School and College Marshals, who assist in conducting the ceremonies, wear blue Dutch caps.

THE MACE, carried by Keith Barker, Co-Chairman of the Commencement Committee, is used at all academic ceremonies. In medieval times maces were weapons of warfare, but today a mace is "a staff borne by, or carried before, a magistrate or other dignitary as an ensign of his authority." It is the emblem and symbol of the President's authority to administer the University. This mace was first used at the Inauguration of President Homer D. Babbidge, Jr., on October 20, 1962. It was designed by Nathan Knobler, former head of the Department of Art. The University's early seal, executed in beautiful wood carving, appears on both faces. A penny dated 1881 is affixed to it to commemorate the date of the University's founding.

THE BATON, carried by the University Marshal, Professor Peter L. Halvorson, was specifically designed for ceremonial activities at The University of Connecticut and was first used at the Commencement in 1968. The Office of Marshal can be traced back to the medieval period, and the Baton is a symbol of the Marshal's authority. This Baton has silver mountings and is surmounted by a representation of the University's former seal in enamel, which itself incorporates the coat of arms of the State of Connecticut. The University Marshal, carrying the Baton, follows the Mace Bearer as he leads the academic procession into and out of the place of ceremony.

THE SILVER COLLAR/MEDALLION, worn by Philip E. Austin, President, was first used in 1964, at the time of the University's Silver Anniversary. Each link on the collar represents one of the University's Schools or Colleges and consists of a cloissoné circle engraved with an appropriate design for the particular school and enameled with its traditional school or college colors. Hanging from the chain is a large silver medallion containing the University's early seal.

THE AWARDING OF DEGREES at The University of Connecticut is accomplished by a twofold process. First, the candidates for degrees of each respective school or college are presented by the University Marshal. The candidates proceed to the front, receive their diplomas, are congratulated by their administrative officers and return to their seats. The School or College Marshal then officially presents the candidates to the Dean who acknowledges the candidates and declares the appropriate degree. Second, when all candidates have been duly presented, the President of the University formally confers the appropriate degree. This is accomplished verbally at the time that he speaks the words:

"By virtue of the authority vested in me by the Trustees of The University of Connecticut, and in accordance with the procedures and regulations of the University, I confer upon you the Certificate, Associate's Degree, appropriate Bachelor's Degree, Master's Degree, Juris Doctor, Doctor of Dental Medicine, Doctor of Medicine, Doctor of Musical Arts, or Doctor of Philosophy for which you have been presented at this One Hundred and Twentieth Commencement of The University."

THE RECESSIONAL of the officials and faculty is once again led by the Mace Bearer and University Marshal. The graduates, along with the audience, are requested to remain seated until the recessional is concluded.

Out of respect and courtesy to all graduates, participants and guests are requested to remain in their seats until the ceremony has concluded.

HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENTS

DANIEL C. DENNETT Doctor of Humane Letters

The men and women receiving graduate degrees at the University of Connecticut's Commencement know well the barriers between academic disciplines, and indeed among sub-disciplines within academic fields. Often, the descriptors of a body of knowledge transcend the purpose of useful definition and instead create obstacles to communication, interaction, and intellectual growth. Over the course of an extraordinary career as one of the world's leading philosophers of mind and psychology, Daniel C. Dennett has, more than almost any other individual in or out of the academy, worked successfully to transcend those barriers. As teacher, author, and academic leader, he has explored and explicated a heterogeneous body of knowledge known as cognitive science—integrating and building upon the work of philosophers, linguists, experimental psychologists, neurophysiologists, evolutionary biologists, computer scientists and social theorists. In eight major books (many of which have been translated into other languages), hundreds of articles, and numerous lectures, Dr. Dennett has made a major contribution not just to a set of specific disciplines, but to the intellectual community as a whole. A native of Boston and a graduate of Harvard University, he earned his doctoral degree in Philosophy at Oxford University and then taught at the University of California-Irvine. Since 1971 he has been a member of the faculty of Tufts University, where he holds the title of University Professor and serves as Director of the Center for Cognitive Studies. He is a past president of the American Philosophical Association.

FREDERICK FENNEL Doctor of Fine Arts

One of the major figures in contemporary American music, Frederick Fennell is the world's leading conductor of music for wind instruments. His career has thus far spanned nearly seven decades; he continues to play an active role as teacher and scholar as well as conductor. Members of our own institution are among those who benefit from his guidance; Mr. Fennell regularly visits the University of Connecticut to meet with students and faculty, conduct ensembles, and provide lectures and master-classes. A native of Cleveland, Ohio, Mr. Fennell studied at the Eastman School of Music at the University of Rochester, where he received a Bachelor of Music degree in 1937 and a Master of Music degree in 1939. Following his graduate studies he joined the Eastman conducting faculty, ultimately founding the renowned Eastman Wind Ensemble in 1952. He later taught at several other institutions and holds the title of Professor Emeritus of the University of Miami School of Music. Mr. Fennell has served as conductor of the Dallas Wind Symphony, the Columbia University American Festival, the Eastman-Rochester Pops Orchestra and the Eastman Opera Theatre. He is the principal guest conductor of the Interlochen Arts Academy and has frequently appeared as guest conductor with the Boston Pops Orchestra. The Frederick Fennell Hall in Kofu, Japan was named in his honor in 1992. In 2000, Mr. Fennell was inducted into the American Classical Music Hall of Fame.

JOHN W. KLUGE Doctor of Humane Letters

Few would dispute the contention that the development of the television industry ranks high among the defining elements of twentieth-century American life, and even fewer would dispute the inclusion of John Kluge among the small handful of individuals who made this medium such a powerful force across the globe. As Chairman and President of the enterprise that became Metromedia Company, Mr. Kluge is responsible for creating an organization that daily touches the lives of millions with information and entertainment. That achievement alone would make him a key figure in our era and merit the awarding of an honorary degree. But this is only the best known among many accomplishments in a lifetime of extraordinary achievement. Born in Germany, Mr. Kluge came to the United States as a child, earned his baccalaureate degree at Columbia University, and embarked on a career that took him to a high level of success in the food brokerage industry in the 1950s. From there, he moved into television, an industry then in its childhood; assembling a collection of independent stations, he ultimately created in Metromedia an entity that rivaled the existing networks. He added to Metromedia's television role a range of other organizations in the print media, athletics, and other fields, creating an enterprise that was, by the time he sold it, one of the nation's major businesses. In the years that followed, Mr. Kluge has given generously of his time, wisdom and resources to worthy enterprises, including this University. The Thomas J. Dodd Prize in International Justice and Human Rights, endowed by Mr. Kluge and awarded by the University of Connecticut, represents not only UConn's commitment to this field of endeavor but Mr. Kluge's own concern for the advancement of human dignity and opportunity.

PHILIP LEDER Doctor of Science

As a scientist, Dr. Philip Leder is internationally recognized for his contributions to the field of mammalian molecular genetic research. Among his discoveries is the isolation of a gene that plays a significant role in the development of certain types of cancer. This discovery led to the development of mouse models for studying cancer. As an educator, he is a pioneer in modernizing the genetics curriculum for medical students. He formulated one of the first case-based formats for medical education in genetics, embryology and reproductive biology, which led to the revamping of genetics curricula at a number of medical schools across the country. Dr. Leder earned his medical degree in 1960 from Harvard Medical School and completed his internship at the University of Minnesota Hospitals in Minneapolis. He went on to work in the lab of Nobel Prize winner Dr. Marshall Nirenberg at the National Institutes of Health in Bethesda, Maryland, where he helped devise an assay technique that significantly accelerated the process of uncovering the genetic code. He later established his own lab for the study of immunology at the NIH, where he made significant scientific contributions in the field of genetics. Currently, Dr. Leder is the director of the Harvard Institute of Human Genetics, as well as the senior investigator at Howard Hughes Medical Institute in Chevy Chase, Maryland, and the John Emory Andrus Professor of Genetics and Chairman in the Department of Genetics at Harvard Medical School. His current research interests focus on the molecular genetics of malignancy. Dr. Leder is an elected member of the National Academy of Sciences, the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, and the Institute of Medicine. He has received numerous accolades and honors including the prestigious Albert Lasker Medical Research Award in 1987, and the National Medal of Science, which was awarded by President George H.W. Bush in 1989.

HENRY C. LEE Doctor of Science

It is possible that no public servant in the modern history of the State of Connecticut has achieved the level of recognition or admiration attained by Dr. Henry Lee. A native of China, youngest of thirteen children, he has not only lived the American dream; as one of the world's foremost forensic scientists, he has helped define a highly specialized profession for a vast lay audience, and has made a unique and immeasurable contribution to his adopted land. Dr. Lee's journey to his current stature has been long and not always easy. When he was just six years old he fled with his family from the Communist revolution on mainland China to Taiwan; at 18 he enrolled in Taiwan Central Police College and by the age of 22 he was a police captain. A few years later he came to the United States, worked as a waiter and groundskeeper, earned an associates degree and a baccalaureate at the City University of New York, and ultimately a doctorate in biochemistry at New York University School of Medicine. Dr. Lee then accepted a teaching position at the University of New Haven, where he helped build a program in forensic science, attracted the notice of Connecticut's law enforcement community, and, in 1979, accepted the state's invitation to take charge of Connecticut's forensic laboratory. A talented administrator and leading scholar in his field, he became internationally famous as an expert on crime scene reconstruction. Not only has his work affected the outcome of some of the most famous criminal trials of our time; he has also been deeply involved in human rights investigations in Central Europe and ongoing collaborations in Asia. He has authored or co-authored thirty books and 300 articles, and has served on editorial boards for six professional journals. Dr. Lee has investigated over 6,000 major cases. He serves on numerous national and international committees and advisory boards. A close friend and occasional colleague at our own University, he holds the title of Professor at the University of New Haven and Chief Emeritus of the Connecticut Department of Public Safety.

HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENTS

ARTHUR LEVITT Doctor of Laws

For all its complexity, vast size, and tremendous productive capacity, the long-term success of the American economic system may depend more than anything else on the simple, traditional concept of personal and organizational integrity. Over the course of a highly successful career in business and government, notably including his seven and a half year tenure as 25th Chairman of the United States Securities and Exchange Commission, Arthur Levitt has worked tirelessly to make that concept an operating reality for the nation's investors and all others whose well-being depends on the honest and efficient operation of our financial markets. Born in Brooklyn, New York, Mr. Levitt was a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Williams College. His career took him from Time, Inc., to Oppenheimer Industries, Inc., to Shearson Hayden Stone, Inc.; in 1978 he became chairman of the American Stock Exchange, where he served until 1989. From 1989 to 1993 he chaired Levitt Media Company, and led the New York City Economic Development Council. President Clinton appointed Mr. Levitt to the SEC Chairmanship in 1993, and he was reappointed to a second term in 1998. Throughout his tenure he worked to educate, empower and protect America's investors, and advocated measures that had as their goal important reforms designed to assure adherence to the highest ethical standards. Mr. Levitt left the SEC in 2001. He is a member of the Board of Directors of Bloomberg L.P. and serves as Senior Adviser to the Carlyle Group, based in Connecticut.

GORDON PARKS Doctor of Fine Arts

The twentieth century produced many great photographers, writers, musicians and film-makers, and a few extraordinary men and women who excelled in more than one of those endeavors. Gordon Parks, who ranks among the nation's great creative artists, is among the tiny handful who have made profound contributions in each of these diverse fields, and in others as well. A native of Kansas, youngest of fifteen children, Mr. Parks attended segregated schools and experienced discrimination against African-Americans first-hand, yet was taught, in his words, "how to live honorably and how to die honorably." Moving to Minneapolis at the age of fifteen, he worked for twelve years as a piano player, bus boy, and professional basketball player before taking up photography in the late 1930s and moving to Chicago. His photographs soon attracted wide notice, earning for him in 1942 the first Julius Rosenwald Fellowship in Photography. He worked as a free-lance photographer for several major national magazines, joining the staff of Life in 1949; he remained there for 20 years, as a writer as well as a photojournalist, often focusing on issues pertaining to the civil rights struggle. Concurrently, he wrote, directed or produced several major films, composing the score for some of them. He has also composed several sonatas, a symphony, and concertos, as well as blues and popular music, much of which has been widely performed in this country and abroad. Several works of fiction, non-fiction, and memoirs round out his extraordinary body of work. Among many honors, Mr. Parks is a recipient of the Springarn Medal, the NAACP's highest award. He resides in New York City. The University of Connecticut's William Benton Museum of Art will be exhibiting a major retrospective of Mr. Parks' photographic work this Fall.

LES PAYNE Doctor of Letters

Pulitzer Prize-winning journalist, author of national stature, and member of the University of Connecticut Class of 1964, Les Payne is among the foremost contemporary chroniclers of the struggle for human rights at home and abroad. Born in Tuscaloosa, Alabama, during an era when the Ku Klux Klan was a threatening presence in the lives of African-American families, Mr. Payne grew up in Hartford, Connecticut. Following his graduation from the University, he served for five years in the United States Army, attaining the rank of captain and commanding an anti-aircraft missile battery; he also served as information officer and, while in Vietnam, served as an army journalist and as a speechwriter for General William C. Westmoreland. Upon leaving military service, Mr. Payne embarked on a civilian career in journalism. Over the course of nearly three decades, at the major Long Island newspaper Newsday, as a nationally syndicated columnist, as a radio and television commentator and as a frequent college lecturer. He has dealt with some of the major stories of our time. He has, as well, brought to public attention stories of injustice and discrimination that would otherwise escape unnoticed. Here in the United States, he has written of the plight of migrant farm workers and illegal immigrants, the persecution of the Black Panther Party, the assassination of Martin Luther King, Jr., and the saga of Patricia Hearst and the Symbionese Liberation Army. As a foreign correspondent for Newsday, he has written extensively about South Africa, both in the years before and after the demise of apartheid. Although the Pretoria government banned him from the country because of his reporting, he returned and wrote again about social unrest. He has also reported extensively on political and economic developments in other parts of Africa, Latin America, and Europe. In 1974 he was part of an investigative team that tracked international drug trafficking. The resulting series, "The Heroin Trail," won a Pulitzer Prize. In the years since, he has frequently served as a member of the Pulitzer Prize selection committee. As an editor he has supervised news staffs that have won every major award in journalism, including three Pulitzer Prizes. Mr. Payne is the Inaugural Professor of the David Laventhol Chair at Columbia University's Graduate School of Journalism and has received numerous awards, including the World Hunger Media Award from the United Nations. He is a founder and former president of the National Association of Black Journalists. Among his services to his alma mater, Mr. Payne has lectured at the University of Connecticut and is a member of the Professional Advisory Committee of the Department of Journalism.

DR. HARALD LÖE University Medal

Among the University's highest honors, the University Medal is awarded in recognition of distinction in a field or profession in public service and for outstanding achievement or leadership on a community, state, national or international level. This year the Board of Trustees confers the 25th University Medal on Dr. Harald Loe, an individual who has contributed to the advancement of the dental profession and the oral health of the public throughout his career that spans more than five decades. For his service to dentistry, Dr. Loe was honored with awards by three heads of state including President George H.W. Bush, King Olav of Norway and Queen Margrethe of Denmark. He has received numerous other honors and awards including the Gold Medal Award for Excellence in Dental Research from the American Dental Association. Dr. Loe has served in many leadership positions in organizations such as the International Association for Dental Research, the Dental Drug Products Advisory Committee of the Federal Food and Drug Administration, and the World Health Organization Expert Advisory and Special Panels. He has authored hundreds of scientific articles, founded the Journal of Periodontal Research, edited several books, received 17 honorary degrees, and lectured in more than 35 countries. Born and raised in Norway, he graduated from the Oslo University School of Dentistry in 1952. Following a decade of work as a Fulbright Research Fellow at the University of Illinois at Chicago, a research associate at the Norwegian Institute for Dental Research in Oslo and private practitioner, he earned his doctorate in odontology in 1961 at Oslo. Two years later, Dr. Loe was appointed professor and chair of the Department of Periodontology at the Royal Dental College in Aarhus, Denmark, where he was elected dean in 1972. That same year he accepted a position as director of the Dental Research Institute at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor. In 1974, he assumed the position of dean and professor of periodontology at the UConn Dental School. Dr. Loe was appointed director of the National Institute of Dental Research in Washington in 1982 and retired in 1994. He then returned to University of Connecticut School of Dental Medicine to resume his studies on epidemiology and periodontal disease. In 1997, he was named Dean Emeritus. Dr. Loe is currently a visiting professor at the University of Berne in Switzerland.

ACADEMIC HONORS

University Scholar

The University Scholar designation is the highest scholastic honor at the University. The individualized undergraduate programs of these students, which in some cases include work toward a graduate degree, are supervised by faculty committees. Up to thirty students are selected as University Scholars in the junior year. Candidates for the University Scholar designation wear gold and blue recognition cords at the commencement exercises.

Honors Scholar

Honors Scholars are outstanding students who complete intensive two- or four-year programs, including Honors courses of unusual breadth and depth. Honors requirements include a senior thesis in the major field. Candidates for the Honors Scholar designation wear gold recognition cords at the commencement exercises.

With Distinction

"With Distinction" is the University's designation for degrees earned by students who give evidence of significant achievement in their major fields. Candidates for the graduation "with Distinction" wear silver recognition cords at the commencement exercises.

The names in this program do not constitute an official list. The students whose names are listed herein were considered candidates for the degree indicated when the program was printed, except where a prior date of graduation (August 31 or December 31, 2002) is given.

THE GRADUATE SCHOOL

The parenthetical indication of a conferral date following a degree recipient's name signifies confirmed completion of degree requirements. If no conferral date is indicated, completion of degree requirements could not be confirmed at press time. Conferral of a degree is contingent upon verification by the Graduate School that a student has completed all requirements.

On the cover of this Commencement book is the official seal of the University of Connecticut. The University's seal depicts the ancient and mighty oak. For Connecticut and the University alike, the oak's symbolism is significant. Beautiful and sacred, the venerable oak is synonymous with wisdom, longevity and hospitality. To Aristotle, the oak represented human potential.

The oak holds a special place in Connecticut's history. In a time long before statehood, the Connecticut colony's self-governing status was guaranteed by a charter issued by King Charles II of England. When, in 1687, his successor King James II attempted to reinstate the monarchy's authority, his emissary's efforts were foiled as the Royal Charter was secretly spirited to a temporary hiding place—a majestic oak in Hartford, forever after known as the Charter Oak. The oak became a symbol of freedom worldwide.

The oak has unique meaning for the University as well. In 1884, the commencement exercises of the second graduating class of the Storrs Agricultural School were held in an oak grove on the Storrs campus. This grove, long a favorite gathering place for a variety of open-air meetings, served as the spiritual home to the growing community of scholars.

The University of Connecticut's graphic interpretation of the oak is a stylized synthesis of two acorns and three oak leaves, representing maturation, intellect and moral strength. The seal is the symbol of a large and diverse institution; it is used by all of the University's schools, colleges, regional campuses, professional schools and its Health Center. The UConn Husky dog is the beloved and official mascot of the University's athletic program. While the Husky symbolizes the vitality and excitement of campus life, the oak seal communicates the broader mission of the University as a center for the pursuit, the creation and the sharing of knowledge. The University of Connecticut, like the mighty oak, is rooted in a proud past and reaching toward a limitless future.
