COMMENCEMENT

WELCOME FROM THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNIVERSITY

Welcome to the December, 2007 Commencement Ceremonies at the University of Connecticut. The Commencement Ceremony is one of the proudest moments in a student's life – and, perhaps even more so, in the life of her or his family. I guarantee that you'll remember this day forever.

It's also a proud day for the University of Connecticut. We've been proud to have you as members of our University family here on our campuses, in our classrooms and laboratories, at our special events and our day-to-day activities. Your achievements and successes are substantial. The University is better today because you were here, contributing your special combination of skills, ambitions and individual personality to our academic community. I hope that you will always remember your time here with affection, and that you always remain united with the University of Connecticut as proud alumni.

Teddy Roosevelt said, "Far and away the best prize that life has to offer is the chance to work hard at work worth doing." You've earned and reaped that reward as you graduate from the University of Connecticut. You've met the rigorous standards set by your discipline, your faculty mentors, and your colleges and schools. You've mastered a body of knowledge that will lead to new opportunities and new associations. These are real accomplishments, and they mean something.

Personally it's a joy to celebrate that achievement with you, and I hope you will carry with you, for a long time to come, every ounce of our heartfelt pride in your success here today. I wish you all the very best, wherever your path next takes you.

With my best wishes and my appreciation,

Michael J. Hogan

COMMENCEMENT NOTES

COMMENCEMENT DAY at The University of Connecticut is a time of ceremony and pageantry, portions of which represent traditions dating back to medieval times. These notes on the history of the University and the commencement ceremony are offered in the hope that they will be of interest to spectators.

THE UNIVERSITY OF CONNECTICUT WAS FOUNDED as the Storrs Agricultural School in 1881 when the General Assembly accepted a gift of money and land from Charles and Augustus Storrs, natives of Mansfield. In 1893 when it became a land-grant college and officially opened to women, the name was changed to Storrs Agricultural College. As the mission of the institution changed, its name was changed in 1899 to Connecticut Agricultural College. In 1933 it became the Connecticut State College. It grew slowly becoming a small but vigorous college with limited undergraduate offerings in agriculture, home economics and mechanical arts. With the development of a university program it became The University of Connecticut in 1939. The first regional campuses were established in 1946 to deal with the influx of veteran students. Today, the University is made up of sixteen different schools and colleges. Through the various agencies of five Divisions and seven Institutes, including forty-nine Special Facilities, Programs, and Centers, the University is privileged to serve many State citizens. The Graduate program began in 1935, and in 1949 the University awarded its first doctoral degrees.

Enormous expansion has taken place over the years together with increased enrollment. Today, the University has an enrollment of over 28,600 students. At Storrs there are over 16,000 undergraduates and more than 6,400 graduate students, representing some 113 nations.

This December, the University will award over 870 Bachelor's Degrees and three Associate's Degree in the two-year Ratcliffe Hicks School of Agriculture.

THE PROCESSIONAL BANNERS

College and School of Agriculture	Brown and Maize
School of Business	Drab Green
Center for Continuing Studies	Brown and Blue
Neag School of Education	Light Blue
School of Engineering	Orange
School of Fine Arts	Brown and Pink
College of Liberal Arts and Sciences	White and Yellow
School of Nursing	Apricot
School of Pharmacy	Green

THE ACADEMIC PROCESSION is led by the Bearer of the Mace followed by the faculty. The University Marshal, identified by his Baton, follows the President, together with the speaker, the Board of Trustees, vice-presidents, deans, and other University officials. The Mace is presented at the center of the stage while those processing enter and take their places. Once the Mace is placed on the stand it signals the beginning of the ceremony.

THE ACADEMIC GOWNS, HOODS AND REGALIA represent more than elegance or colorful attire. Academic caps and gowns represent a tradition which reaches far back into the early days of the oldest universities of the Middle Ages. The early European universities were founded by the church; the students, being clerics, were obliged to wear prescribed gowns and caps at all times. Caps and gowns were once common forms of clothing and were retained by the clergy when the laity adopted more modern dress. Though some universities here and abroad have other colors, the usual color for gowns in America is black. Hoods are lined with the official color of the college or university which conferred the degree. The velvet edging of the hood varies in length for bachelors, masters and doctoral degrees. The color represents the appropriate degree. Mortar boards (caps) are usually black. The tassel for the Bachelor of Arts, Science, and Engineering may be of color distinctive of the degree, and the tassel for the Doctor of Philosophy may be made of gold thread. The gown and hood of the University Marshal were made specifically for University ceremonies in the official colors of national flag blue and white. The Processional Marshals wear blue velvet "beefeater" berets.

THE MACE, carried by Professor Sally Reis, is used at all academic ceremonies. In medieval times maces were weapons of warfare, but today a mace is "a staff borne by, or carried before, a magistrate or other dignitary as an ensign of his authority." It is the emblem and symbol of the President's authority to administer the University. This mace was first used at the Inauguration of President Homer D. Babbidge, Jr., on October 20, 1962. It was designed by Nathan Knobler, former head of the Department of Art. The University's early seal, executed in beautiful wood carving, appears on both faces. A penny dated 1881 is affixed to it to commemorate the date of the University's founding.

THE BATON, carried by the University Marshal, Professor Michael Darre, was specifically designed for ceremonial activities at The University of Connecticut and was first used at the Commencement in 1968. The Office of Marshal can be traced back to the medieval period, and the Baton is a symbol of the Marshal's authority. This Baton has silver mountings and is surmounted by a representation of the University's former seal in enamel, which itself incorporates the coat of arms of the State of Connecticut. The University Marshal, carrying the Baton, follows the Mace Bearer as she leads the academic procession into and out of the place of ceremony.

THE SILVER COLLAR/MEDALLION, worn by Michael J. Hogan, President, was first used in 1964, at the time of the University's Silver Anniversary. Each link on the collar represents one of the University's Schools or Colleges and consists of a cloissoné circle engraved with an appropriate design for the particular school and enameled with its traditional school or college colors. Hanging from the chain is a large silver medallion containing the University's early seal.

THE AWARDING OF DEGREES at The University of Connecticut is accomplished by a twofold process. First, the candidates for degrees of each respective school or college are presented by the University Marshal. The candidates proceed to the front, receive their diplomas, are congratulated by their administrative officers and return to their seats. Second, when all candidates have been duly presented, the President of the University formally confers the appropriate degree. This is accomplished verbally at the time that he speaks the words:

"By virtue of the authority vested in me by the Trustees of The University of Connecticut, and in accordance with the procedures and regulations of the University, I confer upon you the Associate's Degree or appropriate Bachelor's Degree for which you have been presented at this One Hundred and Twenty Ninth Commencement of The University."

THE RECESSIONAL of the officials and faculty is once again led by the Mace Bearer and University Marshal. The graduates, along with the audience, are requested to remain seated until the recessional is concluded.

Out of respect and courtesy to all graduates, participants and guests are requested to remain in their seats until the ceremony has concluded.

The flowers displayed during the ceremonies are from the University's Plant Science Department greenhouses.

UNDERGRADUATE STUDENT REPRESENTATIVE

ZOHAI B RASHEED

I was born in Kuwait on September 2nd, 1984. At the age of five, my family and I had to evacuate Kuwait because of the Gulf War. Since then I have moved eight times and I have lived in Pakistan, Bahrain and my family finally moved to the United States when I was thirteen years of age.

When I first moved to the United States, I was not a proficient English speaker and had a rough transition during middle and high school. However, I found my academic passions at the University of Connecticut, where I have studied Philosophy, Political Science and Human Rights. Through my hard work and dedication at the University of Connecticut, I was awarded the highest academic honor bestowed upon undergraduates as a University Scholar. While at the University of Connecticut, I have held the office of treasurer for the Muslim Student Association, and I have been a member of The Golden Key and National Society for Colligate Scholars Honors Societies. Moreover, as a Community Assistant, I have been an active member of the University of Connecticut student residential life.

Besides pursuing my academic goals, I have strived to be an upright citizen. I have interned at the Hartford Superior Court, working in the Public Defenders Office. I have also worked for a human rights NGO in Pakistan called the Young Social Reformers, where I helped organize a carnival to benefit dialysis patients. Moreover, I have been a Sergeant in the Connecticut Army National Guard since my freshman year of college and have participated in relief missions for Hurricane Katrina and have supported in Operation Iraqi Freedom, earning five medals during my tenure.

I have been awarded the Richard Goldstone Fellowship for the coming semester, and in February of 2008, I will begin working at the International Criminal Tribunal for The Former Yugoslavia at The Hague. Moreover, I have applied for a Fulbright Scholarship to study Public International Law at Leiden University in The Netherlands. My future goals are to attend an eminent law school and earn a J.D. in International law. Eventually, I would like to represent the United States as an ambassador to the United Nations.

This profile was provided by the student.

CHARLOTTE BUNCH
Doctor of Laws

CHARLOTTE BUNCH is one of the nation's leading figures in the struggle for human rights and social justice in the United States and across the globe. Over the course of a 40-year career, Ms. Bunch has played an instrumental role in the development of feminist studies as a major academic discipline, and her work is widely recognized as a key element in the intellectual foundation of women's studies, of women's rights as human rights, and, more broadly, the study of social movements in general. Of equal importance, Ms. Bunch is a widely admired organizer and activist whose efforts on the international stage have helped translate ideological support for equal justice into tangible policy goals for the improvement of women's lives.

A native of New Mexico, Ms. Bunch is a graduate of Duke University, where she wrote her honors thesis on "The Role of Women in the Chinese Revolution, 1929-1959." Her career includes positions as National President of the University Christian Movement; a decade as a fellow at the Institute for Policy Studies in Washington DC where she founded and edited Quest: A Feminist Quarterly, and establishment of Interfem Consultants in New York, an organization that worked for women's rights globally and nationally with organizations in Peru, Chile, India, Sri Lanka, Canada and the United States. Since 1987 Ms. Bunch has been associated with Rutgers University, where she now holds the title of Board of Governors Distinguished Professor in Women's and Gender Studies and serves as Executive Director of the Center for Women's Global Leadership, which she founded in 1989.

A prolific writer, Ms. Bunch's body of work includes numerous essays and anthologies and two major works in the feminist movement, Passionate Politics: Feminist Theory in Action, and Demanding Accountability: The Global Campaign and Vienna Tribunal for Women's Human Rights. Her civil society service over many decades includes membership on many boards including: Executive Committee of the World Student Christian Federation, Board of Directors of the National Lesbian and Gay Task Force, the National Council for Research on Women, and the Ms Foundation for Women. She currently serves on the Advisory Committee for the Human Rights Watch Women's Rights Division and on the Boards of the Global Fund for Women and the International Council on Human Rights Policy, and last year she served on the Advisory Committee for the United Nations Secretary General's Report to the General Assembly on Violence Against Women. Ms. Bunch's many honors include induction into the National Women's Hall of Fame in 1996, and selection by President Bill Clinton as the recipient of the Eleanor Roosevelt Award for Human Rights in 1999.

HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENT

Doctor of Humane Letters

The University of Connecticut's commitment to human rights as a field of research, instruction and public service has been translated into reality due, in no small measure, to the encouragement and support of Gary S. Gladstein and his ardent interest in human rights. A native of Waterbury and Bridgeport, he is a proud member of the UConn Class of 1966 (BA in Economics). Mr. Gladstein is one of the nation's leaders in the field of finance, and of course we at the University would like to think we helped place him on the road to success. Whether or not that is the case, what is clearly true is that Mr. Gladstein has repaid this institution and the State of Connecticut many times over by helping to strengthen the University's academic program and, most notably, by enabling the University to emerge as a leader among institutions of higher learning in the pursuit of peace and social justice across the globe. With Mr. Gladstein's help, human rights has become a signature academic program at the University, one that inspires undergraduate and graduate students and faculty to enlarge our vision and increase our knowledge about the human condition.

In addition to his undergraduate UConn degree, Mr. Gladstein holds a Master of Business Administration from Columbia University. He began his career with the Sikorsky Division of United Technologies Corporation, then joined the Hartford office of Arthur Young & Company. He left Arthur Young to join Kohlberg Kravis & Roberts as their Chief Financial Officer. From 1985 to 2000 he was with Soros Fund Management LLC, retiring as Partner and the Chief Operating Officer, and continues to serve as a consultant to the firm. A member of several corporate boards in this country and abroad, Mr. Gladstein is also a major philanthropist. His generosity in time and financial support has supported organizations including The Abraham Fund Initiatives, which works to advance coexistence and a shared society between Arabs and Jews living in Israel; The Biblelands Museum in Jerusalem; The Hebrew Free Loan Society; The Samuel Waxman Cancer Research Foundation at Mt. Sinai Hospital; The Tanenbaum Center for Interreligious Understanding; the OneVoice Movement; and the B'nai Brith Youth Organization.

The manifestations of Mr. Gladstein's support for the University of Connecticut are as wide-ranging as they are significant. The Marsha Lilien Gladstein Visiting Professorship in Human Rights, established in 1998, enabled us to bring outstanding scholars to campus to teach and to study. The Gladstein Endowment for the MIS Research Laboratory and Gladstein Professorship in Information Technology and Innovation, both created in 2000, enhance UConn's capacity to meet students' needs for cutting-edge preparation in fields of crucial economic importance. The Marsha Lilien Gladstein Human Rights Fund (created in 2001) and the Judi and Gary Gladstein Distinguished Chair in Human Rights (2005) contribute immeasurably to the University's capacity to contribute to a cause of vital importance. Other support to the UConn Health Center, School of Business and Hillel Building funds and active service on the UConn Foundation Board of Directors completes the profile of an alumnus who has, in the broadest sense, served as a model for the aspirations the University holds for its students.

On the cover of this Commencement book is the official seal of the University of Connecticut. The University's seal depicts the ancient and mighty oak. For Connecticut and the University alike, the oak's symbolism is significant. Beautiful and sacred, the venerable oak is synonymous with wisdom, longevity and hospitality. To Aristotle, the oak represented human potential.

The oak holds a special place in Connecticut's history. In a time long before statehood, the Connecticut colony's self-governing status was guaranteed by a charter issued by King Charles II of England. When, in 1687, his successor King James II attempted to reinstate the monarchy's authority, his emissary's efforts were foiled as the Royal Charter was secretly spirited to a temporary hiding place—a majestic oak in Hartford, forever after known as the Charter Oak. The oak became a symbol of freedom worldwide.

The oak has unique meaning for the University as well. In 1884, the commencement exercises of the second graduating class of the Storrs Agricultural School were held in an oak grove on the Storrs campus. This grove, long a favorite gathering place for a variety of open-air meetings, served as the spiritual home to the growing community of scholars.

The University of Connecticut's graphic interpretation of the oak is a stylized synthesis of two acorns and three oak leaves, representing maturation, intellect and moral strength. The seal is the symbol of a large and diverse institution; it is used by all of the University's schools, colleges, regional campuses, professional schools and its Health Center. The UConn Husky dog is the beloved and official mascot of the University's athletic program. While the Husky symbolizes the vitality and excitement of campus life, the oak seal communicates the broader mission of the University as a center for the pursuit, the creation and the sharing of knowledge. The University of Connecticut, like the mighty oak, is rooted in a proud past and reaching toward a limitless future.
