PROJECT LAUNCHED FOR NEW CHURCH BUILDING

CAMPAIGN SOON FOR MEMORIAL STRUCTURE

Aims to Provide Social and Religious Meeting Place for All Beliefs

For years Storrs has felt the need of a community-center and church auditorium, adequate to the growing size and importance of the place. Just before America entered the war, Mrs. Beach suggested to the Chaplain, Mr. Dawson, that he imitate the example of an acquaintance of hers, who raised money for a parish-house at some other place. The idea, however, was not immediately acted upon, because, with the seriousness of the war situation, it seemed more important to win the war than to put up buildings, even for community needs and worship. But, with the war over, and especially bearing in mind the notable contribution made by C. A. C. during the war, both in the organization of the State work, and in the trenches, Mr. Dawson resolved to take up the project. It seemed to him that where the college had done so much for the state and nation, the people of the state—especially those blessed with surplus wealth—should feel glad to do something for the college. The thought of a Memorial Institution gradually took shape—of a building the nobility and beauty of which would suggest, fitly, the spirit of sacrifice and heroism manifested by our men of Connecticut Agricultural College who willingly gave their lives for civilization in the Great War.

The success of the project, of course, hinged upon one thing, namely, the ability to get the money. Mr. Dawson has been, for a long time, on the trail of some person who by interest and experience, would be properly qualified to present the need of the institution to the people of Connecticut. About a month ago he succeeded, beyond his expectations, in getting more than a half-promise from a New York man, a native of Connecticut, who is now raising in this State, a fund of about two-thirds of a million dollars, for a great benevolence which need not be named here. This man expects to finish that job by the end of the year, when, if his engagements permit, he will, it is understood, help take up the campaign for raising $100,000 for the Memorial Building project at Connecticut Agricultural College. Indeed, he has gone so far as to request from President Beach an

WELL KNOWN PROJECT REPRESENTED HERE

Goshen $1,000 Poultry Club Members Earn Way by Keeping Pens Here

If a hen and a half lay an egg and a half in a day and a half, how long will it take two hundred and twenty-five hens to put three fellows through college? That is part of a problem that three members of the famous Goshen $1000 Poultry Club who are students here this year are trying to solve. Garry A. Miles a freshman, in an interview with a Campus reporter, gave some interesting facts about the Club, of which he is president.

It was started by eleven young men in Goshen for the purpose of earning $1000 with some four or five hundred birds. The club was entirely successful in its enterprise, making much more than it had set out to do. Since then it has grown rapidly and has become well known throughout the state. At the meeting of the Poultry Association held here during Farmers' Week this club put on, in Hawley Armory, a very amusing and instructive playlet under the supervision of Raymond T. James, Boys and Girls Club leader for Litchfield County. This playlet gave the triumph of pure-bred stock over the common barnyard hen. Miles stated that he does not know the exact number of birds in the club at the present time.

The other members of the club here at Connecticut are C. A. Vaill and S. K. Ives, who is secretary. All of them are working their way through by keeping large pens of poultry here at Storrs and selling their eggs. Miles and Vaill each have a hundred birds and Ives has twenty-five. The pens are all at the old poultry plant and the men room at Storrs Hall so as to be near the scene of their labors. Feed for the birds is bought from the college, and the eggs are sold to the college. This is handy and smoothes over a couple of rough places for the young poultrymen. They are not certain as yet just how they will come out, but they have expectations of earning enough to pay their way. Good luck, Goshenites!

The co-eds invite everyone to be present at the annual Hallowe'en Masquerade Dance to be given by them in Hawley Armory, October 31, 1919, at 7:30 P. M.

COLLEGE SPIRIT SHOWN AS WE WITNESS CONTEST

CROWD GOES TO SEE GAME WITH TRINITY

About 75 Students Went to Hartford Saturday to Cheer Blue and White

Characteristic of true Connecticut Aggie Spirit about seventy-five of the students and faculty made the trip to Hartford Saturday to see the game with Trinity. Immediately after the last class, automobiles began to leave the Hill and probably more would have gone but for the fact that the second team played a home game that afternoon.

Upon arriving at Trinity's field the local rooters congregated on the east grandstand. Although the game was lost to a heavier team, playing upon its home grounds, nevertheless the spirit of the followers of the Blue and White never ceased to think that the Aggies might even the score before the finish.

It has often been said that the Connecticut Agricultural College shows a peculiar spirit; peculiar in so far as that whenever an athletic contest is held within reasonable distance, a group of Aggie followers may be found. The college interest in the game and its players is very manifest. Unfortunately, more games cannot be scheduled nearer. Three years ago a large group went to Middletown to see the game with Wesleyan, and the same year the entire student body went to Kingston to see the football game with Rhode Island State. Plans are well under way for a repetition of this trip this fall.

PLENTY OF ROOM SAY WOMEN STUDENTS

Eight Ride in One Car in Order to Cheer at Trinity Game

The co-eds took advantage of the opportunity to see a varsity foot ball game near at home and were right on the spot for the game played with Trinity last Saturday. Transportation difficulties were great but by one means or another, about fifteen of the girls managed to get there. So great was the enthusiasm that eight were piled into a five passenger car that as many as possible might be on hand to add their voices to the cheering squad. It can't be denied that the co-eds are right there with the proverbial "college spirit."

SOPHOMORE DISCOVERS NEW MICRO-ORGANISM

ISOLATED FROM ITS DINING HALL HOME

Edward J. Slanetz, '22, Finds Delicate Pink Bacteria Not Previously Recorded

A new organism has been discovered by Edward J. Slanetz, '22, which has never been seen in this laboratory before, and according to all reports, has never been isolated previous to Mr. Slanetz's discovery. This bacteria is classified as belonging to the Sarcina group, as it is found in cubical packets of eight and sixty-four spheres. Nearly all of this group are yellow but this one is a delicate shade of pink, and before microscopical examination was thought to be a yeast. This organism was obtained on an agar plate which was exposed in the Dining Hall and Professor Esten of the Bacteriological department says that this discovery is most remarkable and will add to the name of our Alma Mater.

FORMAL DANCE HELD THANKSGIVING WEEK

Football Hop to be Celebrated on November 25 in Hawley Armory

The Football Hop, a formal dance, which has formerly been held on the day of the season's last game, is to take place on Tuesday evening, November the twenty-fifth, in Hawley Armory, under the auspices of the Athletic Association.

This celebrates the return of the formal dance at C. A. C., no formal dance having taken place for more than a year. The last Football Hop occurred in 1916.

Following the custom, the dance would fall on the night of November the twenty-second, the day on which the Connecticut Aggies play Rhode Island State at Kingston; but the inability of a timely return of the players necessitates the occurrence of the dance, as posted, on November the twenty-fifth.

This will prove advantageous, however, to many. It will be a pre-holiday dance, and fair partners may be sought outside; even "The Girl from Home" may be "imported" to make the dance as it should and will be—a howling success in honor of those wearers of the blue and white.

AMERICAN LEGION WAS ORGANIZED OCTOBER 8

DELEGATES ELECTED TO STATE CONVENTION

Crofts to go to National Con- vention—Big Meeting for October 23rd

The first meeting of the Mansfield Post of the American Legion was held in the Armory on Wednesday evening October 8. At this time definite steps in organization were taken. A fair sized crowd of ex-service men were present and much enthusiasm and interest was shown.

The first business to be transacted was the election of temporary officers. Prof. R. C. Fisher was elected chairman, N. W. Alexander, vice-chairman, E. B. Modell, secretary, and C. J. Austin, treasurer. An organization committee consisting of H. J. Baker, Prof. M. F. Abel, C. J. Edmond, and F. Bauer was appointed to take steps toward increasing the membership and to interest ex-service men in surrounding towns. Frederick Bauer was elected as delegate to the state convention to be held in Hartford, Oct. 11 and A. H. Crofts was elected as alternate.

Plans for holding a big meeting and a banquet were discussed. Application blanks were passed out to men wishing to enroll. The rate at which applications are coming in is encouraging to those who are pushing the movement along.

A. H. Crofts, '23, who represented the local post of the American Legion at the State Convention in Hartford Oct. 11, served as a member on the committee on resolutions and was elected as one of the state delegates to the National Convention of the Legion to be held in Minneapolis on Nov. 11.

At a meeting of the temporary officers and organization committee of the Mansfield Post of the American Legion held Monday evening Oct. 13, it was decided that a big meeting of the Post should be held on Thursday evening Oct. 23, in the Armory. In order that all ex-service men in this vicinity may become acquainted with the purposes of this organization, it is planned to widely advertise this meeting so that all may attend. The organization committee is to secure the names of ex-service men in the town of Mansfield so as to be able to notify them of the establishing of the Post.

It is expected that a speaker will be sent here from state headquarters. He will have first-hand information about the Legion and will make clear to all the real significance of the organization. An effort will also be made to have Prof. H. R. Monteith speak on this subject. He has expressed his interest in the movement and is well informed as to its value. It is hoped that this meeting will result in having every student who was in the service enroll as a member together with a large number of men from this vicinity.

COMMUNITY STRUCTURE.

architect's drawing or plan of the building, for showing to people who might be interested. Mr. Beach accordingly requested the Chaplain to prepare specifications, covering the various needs of the community life, which ought to be embodied in the proposed Church and Community House. Tentative specifications were prepared, and submitted, not only to the President, but to a public meeting, called to discuss the program at the Church on the Campus, last Sunday evening at 7:30.

At that meeting expressions of opinion were invited from all constituencies in the community—from students and from faculty, from the stenographic and clerical corps, from Catholics and Jews, and from those having no religious affiliation at all. The building, of course, will be held by no one sect or partisan group; it will be held in trust, perhaps by the College Trustees so that all groups of people, whatever their affiliation, may use the building without prejudice, as their own. On Sundays for instance services may be held in the auditorium by Catholics as well as Protestants. The Jews, likewise, are to have free use of the building, for worship or class instruction.

An interesting feature of the building will be the plan for a large "general utility" room, where entertainments, lectures, plays, and banquets can be held, a room capable of seating from 200 to 250 for a banquet, and a larger number for an entertainment program.

Special thought has been given to the needs of the students along both social, entertainment, and religious lines. Rooms will be at their disposal for meetings, for which there is at present no cosy and attractive place, centrally located. Whatever the student's community needs may be, not adequately covered already by some other arrangement, may be provided for in this building—whether the need of a place to meet his parents and visiting friends on Sunday, or the need of a snug corner, with big chairs, by an open fire-place, where he may meet informally with his fellows, and talk over those things which lie next his heart.

At the meeting Sunday night, a committee of six consisting of M. Dawson, R. E. Dodge, J. L. Hughes, M. H. Lockwood, C. H. Savage, and G. S. Torrey was appointed to add to themselves numbers not to exceed fifteen, which joint committee should be representative of the different groups whose needs would be supplied by the new building. The duties of this committee are to make careful investigations of the needs of the community in this respect and report same to a later meeting. The additional members appointed were C. L. Beach, Chairman; R. C. Fisher, Secretary; H. V. Beebe, W. F. Maloney, Mrs. G. H. Lamson, Mrs. C. A. Wheeler, Elizabeth W. Tapley, Rose Schoolnick and Flora M. Miller.

It is the earnest desire of the committee that everybody on the campus begin, immediately, to figure out just

I. G. DAVIS SUCCEEDS PROF. GUY C. S. SMITH

I. G. DAVIS SUCCEEDS PROF. GUY C. SMITH

Davis Known Also as Farm Man- agement Specialist and Act- ing Extension Director

I. G. Davis, formerly county agent leader in this state, has been appointed professor of economics at Connecticut Agricultural College and will direct the field work in marketing for the Extension Service of the college. He succeeds Guy C. Smith who recently resigned here to become head of the newly created state bureau of markets in Pennsylvania.

Mr. Davis has been in agricultural extension work in Connecticut the past four years, coming to Storrs originally as farm management specialist. He later became county agent leader and on the entrance of the United States into the war, he was put in charge of the work in Hartford which the agricultural college carried on at the request of the Committee of Food Supply of the Council of Defense.

In November, 1918, he became acting director of the Extension Service in the place of H. J. Baker, who was called to France in overseas educational work. He carried this work until August 1 of this year, when Mr. Baker returned. R. E. Dodge, formerly of the Columbia University staff, became county agent leader when Mr. Davis became acting director of extension, and will continue in this work.

Mr. Davis is a native of Maine and received his training at Bates College and at Massachusetts Agricultural College. He has had experience in teaching as well as extension work. His wide acquaintance over the state will be especially valuable in the marketing work, which Prof. Smith had developed to a high degree of success.

In appointing Mr. Davis to this position, the authorities doubtless took into consideration his record as an organizer. As county agent leader before the war, Mr. Davis built up the present efficient system. During the war his work at Hartford was highly commended. In serving as director during the first months of the reconstruction period he faced many problems calling for judgment and precision. Whenever there has been a hard job to tackle, Mr. Davis seems to have been the first choice.

It is expected that Mr. Davis will soon have an assistant who will take the place made vacant by the resignation of H. B. Price, now at Yale University. No announcement of this appointment has been made as yet.

FACULTY COTTAGES BEING CONSTRUCTED

New Residence Street to be Opened Parallel to Whitney Road

A new avenue of faculty cottages in the rear of those now facing the Gardner Dow Field is started. Plans are completed for a road parallel to and south of Whitney Road. Many students have doubtless noticed the drainage line in the process of construction near the home of Professor G. C. White. This line is to run thru the proposed street, draining the cellars and low places on the building sites. The cost of this drainage and sewage line is estimated at eight hundred dollars.

Houses are to be built on both sides of the new road. Three of these are under construction at present. One of them is in the rear of the residence of R. I. Longley and is modeled on the same plan. The other two are behind the double house now occupied by A. J. Brundage and Roy E. Jones and resemble it in construction and appearance.

HORT. NOTES

In connection with class work in conservation horticulture, Professor A. T. Stevens has designed a dehydrator for drying fruit, vegetables and seeds. The dehydrator consists of pipes which are heated by steam and over which trays containing the product are laid. The device has an attachment for preventing the moisture of one tray from rising and passing through the one above it. Anyone can make a similar dehydrator as the idea is not patented.

About one-half of the apple crop is harvested, and a total crop of about a thousand barrels is expected by S. P. Hollister.

what they think is needed, and hand in suggestions to their committee representatives; also to talk the matter over with them. Likewise, they can begin to write to their people about it, or "talk it" throughout the State, as a means to the widest publicity. The success of the project, so far as raising the money is concerned, rests in part upon publicity; and the success of the building, when we get it, will rest upon the degree to which it has met the needs of everybody here. The time to suggest those needs is now before the building is definitely planned rather than after it is all fixed and finished.

The success of this enterprise will mean a great step forward, both in the beautifying of the campus and in securing that College Spirit which shall make Connecticut Agricultural College one of the greatest institutions in New England. Everybody help!

DRAMATIC CLUB PLANS FOUR PLAYS THIS YEAR

"TYRANNY OF TEARS" FIRST NUMBER OUT

Local Talent to Present Dickens and Shakespeare Before Season is Over

Four plays will probably be given by the Dramatic Club this year, one society play, one each by Dickens and Shakespeare and one out door Indian play.

"Tyranny of Tears" by C. Haddon Chambers, one of the best plays in which John Drew was starred, will be presented on November 24, the evening before the Football Hop. Miss Wallace has been most fortunate in making this selection, and will hold tryouts for the parts very soon.

Sometime during the winter, "Oliver Twist," by Charles Dickens, will be staged. That will be followed by a Shakespearean play which has not yet been chosen, and in the spring will be presented an out door play, "The Arrowmaker," by Mary Austin. Three years ago plans were made to give this on the shore of "Swan Lake." The cast was chosen, had even held its first rehearsals. The business manager had plans all made for lighting the place, and for canoes and other bits of Indian color with which to transform our natural pine grove and lake into the requisite Indian stage setting. But the war came on us, college closed early and the project had to be given up for the time at least. Each succeeding year the Club has had visions of completing those plans, but circumstances have forbidden. This year it is confident of fulfilling its hopes, and is already making its plans.

At their regular monthly evening meetings it was decided to have the members take turn in putting on short sketches for the entertainment of the Club and for the purpose of discovering and developing the talent it has. President Paul N. Manwaring will have charge of the first one which will come on November 12.

The Club voted at the meeting last Monday night to apply for membership in Theta Alpha Phi Dramatic Fraternity. This is a new national college dramatic fraternity, originating in the Oklahoma Agricultural and Mechanic Arts College. Only college men and women who have participated in at least two college plays are eligible to membership in this fraternity, and coaches are taken in as honorary members.

Tryouts for membership in the College Dramatic Club will be held shortly after the staging of "Tyranny of Tears." In so large a freshman class the club expects to find a great deal of talent. The tryouts are not confined to freshmen however, but are open to all who are interested in becoming members of such an organization.

CONNECTICUT FAILS IN THIRD GAME THIS YEAR

OFFICIALS IN CHARGE NOT PROFESSIONALS

Poor Playing on Both Sides Feature of Game—Averill Hurt Replaced by Graf

Playing far below the standard set in the opening games the blue and white eleven fell before the Trinity team at Hartford. It was not the fact that Trinity's team was a better combination that caused our downfall but rather the fact that our boys seemed to have a bad attack of stage fright and threw the game away with wretched handling of the ball. To start the bad day off in a bad way, Manager Manwaring was informed upon his arrival in Hartford that no regular officials were to be had and that the game would have to be played with amateur officials in charge. This was not Trinity's fault as the Central Board was the cause of the mixup whereby the umpire and referee that were supposed to be on hand were sent to another college.

The game started with Morris, a former Trinity man umpiring and Mitchell refereeing. Hopwood kicked off to Lynch, who carried the ball back almost to the middle of the field before he was downed. Trinity was unable to gain an inch against the smashing defense of the Aggie line and was forced to punt. The Trinity line also proved to be a hard combination and it was soon evident that neither side was able to gain consistently. Just before the end of the first quarter the Aggie team paved the way for its own defeat by fumbling the ball on their own twenty yard line. When the pile was untangled a Trinity man was covering the ball and our opponents were in striking distance of the goal line. Averill was hurt at this stage of the game and W. Graf was sent in to take his place at left guard. The quarter ended with the ball in Trinity's possession on our twenty yard line.

SECOND QUARTER

Mezzoni tried our line but fumbled, the ball being recovered by a Trinity man. Jarvis made five yards on a skin tackle play and Mezzoni made three more on the same play. The next proved our undoing and Jarvis carried the ball to our one yard line on a neat trick formation. Both sides were offside and no penalties resulted. Lynch the clever little Trinity quarterback then carried the ball over for the only score of the game. Foley took three steps after catching the kickoff so no try at goal was allowed. Johnson kicked off to Alexander who was downed before he could start. Hopwood attempted a forward pass but all his men were covered and he was thrown for a ten yard loss. The remainder of the period was the best football shown in the game and the line frequently tackled the runners before they reached the line of scrimmage. The half ended with the ball in our possession in the middle of the field.

Both officials showed a lack of ability to handle the game and the Aggie team was discouraged at decisions and lack of penalties. Barlow was substituted for Mitchell as referee at the beginning of the second half. The final half showed some of the weirdest football ever seen in a college game. Both sides fumbled repeatedly, with Aggie as the worst offender and at times the game resembled a prize fight rather than a football game. The only real good run of the game came in this quarter when Alexander picked up the ball after Hopwood had fumbled a punt and zig-zagged thru the Trinity team for forty yards before Lynch brought him to earth. Lynch was the last blue and gold warrior between Alexander and their goal line and he saved the day for the Hartford Collegians. In the final quarter Hopwood tried a couple of forward passes but the Trinity backs were too clever to be caught napping and intercepted them without fail. Aggie continued to fumble badly and Trinity was able to work the ball into our territory where Jarvis fell back for an attempt to kick a field goal. Mitchell and Gleason smashed thru and hurried him so that the ball went wide of the goal posts and the whistle blew ending the game. Foley, Jarvis and Lynch played a sensational game for Trinity while Gleason, Prescott and Alexander proved to be the big noises on the Aggie side.

The following extract was taken from the Massachusetts Agricultural College "Collegian":

Connecticut Aggie should be given a lot of credit for continuing with their football schedule after having a member of their team killed in the first game of the season. That is enough to dampen the fighting spirit and enthusiasm of any eleven, yet they put up a stubborn fight from start to finish Saturday afternoon on Alumni Field. Credit where credit is due; hats off to Connecticut Aggie!

CLEAN DORMITORIES

It was a wise thing the college did when it hired some uninterested men to take charge of the janitor work in the halls and washrooms of the dormitories this year. There has always been a whole lot of complaining about the sanitary conditions in these places but since substitutions have been made in the place of student janitors, we have heard no crabbing.

We have heard it told how there was once a student who had the care of part of Storrs Hall, and they say he used to be up every morning before breakfast, stripped to the waist, and whistling merrily as he swept the halls and scrubbed the washroom floors. Some have believed the story, but others think that whoever told it was seeing things. At any rate, very few students who drew their monthly pay roll for keeping things clean about the dorms ever did their full duty to make living conditions most pleasant.

Of course, there are a lot of things which a good plumber could remedy in the washrooms that would save a few gallons of water and would give the floors a chance to dry up, but no steps seem to be taken about this.

C. A. C. VS. TRINITY

The Connecticut supporters who journeyed to Hartford last Saturday to see the Varsity team play Trinity were treated to one of the poorest and most unsportsmanlike games ever played on a college gridiron. The Aggies have been playing a clean game and have been playing hard this season. They went to Hartford certain of beating Trinity, but the Central Board officials who had been engaged had telegraphed that they could not come. The only possibilities Trinity could produce were two Trinity alumni, both of whom refused to act as referee.

In order to proceed with the game, Connecticut had to furnish a referee. There was no one who felt competent to act in that capacity, but Mr. Barlow, whom we all know to be a fair-minded and clean sportsman, finally consented to act in the emergency, protesting the while that he was incompetent.

The Trinity team, who we supposed to be clean players, like the Aggies, immediately took advantage of the fact that the referee was incompetent and played the game in their own way. They didn't play dirty, as we usually think of dirty playing, but they confined themselves to little misdeameanors, such as holding and creeping with the ball after the whistle for "Down." Also they stalled for breath several times by starting an argument with the referee.

These facts might be overlooked if the game had been scoreless, but the attention of the spectators should be called to the fact that the touchdown they made was immediately after a fifteen yard penalty had been incurred which was not administered. Also it should be known that although both teams made a poor showing, it was for different reasons, and if the Aggies had played the game they did last week, or even in their first game, under good officials, they would undoubtedly have won the game.

FRATERNITY RUSHING

One of the most important and trying seasons of the college year is the time when fraternity rushing is at its height. It is a hard time, both for fraternity men and for the men whom they are looking for. Most of the men here measure up to or within sight of the standards of some fraternity on the hill and they are trying to discover which one they fit into. Every fraternity, of course, is trying to make the best men fit into its own body, and then is the time when the rub comes.

A freshman must use his head about this matter, not trusting himself to the impulse of the moment, but calmly thinking it over, and deciding for himself the issue.

It is the lookout of the fraternities themselves to pledge the men who are of their own type, but some times they make a mistake in judging the character of a man and everybody is sorry afterwards.

A great deal of good results from fraternity rushing for all concerned as a rule. Both the old men and the freshmen get an almost unlimited opportunity to study the character of men as individuals and as collective groups and this study of character is one of the big things that is going to influence your future relations with the world of business and pleasure.

Let every freshman if possible avail himself of any opportunity to study a fraternity and its brothers.

They are all different and it is this very difference that makes their organization possible; for one type of man can go one way and the other type another way and another type some other way and all are happy in their own particular fashion. That's the beauty of the thing.

SAFETY VALVE

To the Editor:

Last year there was much crabbing and fault finding over the condition of the basements of the men's dormitories, due to their alleged uncleanness. Consequently the student janitors were relieved of their positions, and men put in their place whose duty it is to see that the dormitories are fit to live in. We will admit that Koons Hall is cleaner than ever, but Storrs Hall, could it be any worse? Let us hope that when we get our new Commandant, conditions will change. Who else would show more interest in behalf of the sanitary conditions under which the students must live than he?

It is admitted that the equipment of Storrs Hall is old but this in itself is a lame excuse. Why cannot two able-bodied janitors, who are paid full time just to keep the buildings clean, keep Storrs Hall sanitary? We hope that faculty members interested in our living conditions will visit Storrs Hall. Home was never like this before!

AGATE.

Dear Editor:

There are men playing Varsity Football who haven't enough money to buy their next meal ticket and no money coming and no way to earn money unless they quit football. What sort of a showing is our team going to make the rest of the season if three or four men quit playing because they have no money and can't get a job that will enable them to work and still play? To be sure, we have lost every game this year—why? No, it isn't because the team is rotten. We have one of the best teams we ever had. It is because the team isn't getting the loyal support of the students, the faculty, and the alumni. Mr. Student, what do YOU care about the team except "When is there a home game that I can see?" Apparently you care nothing for it except for the entertainment it affords you. Do you realize that the men who play football are doing more to put C. A. C. on the map than YOU will ever do in a hundred years at the rate you are going? Do you realize how much more they could do with your support? No, you don't.

This college offers no sort of inducement to football men. A football man has a harder time than anyone else. Then it is up to the student body to get busy. There are very few jobs a football player can handle during the season. He can't put in his spare time digging ditches and play the game at his best. There is one job he could swing which would bring in quite a lot of money—that is working in the Dining Hall mornings and noon.

Think it over. Remember that it takes more than eleven men to make a football team. It takes the fighting spirit of the entire student body plus material assistance when necessary, and believe me, it is necessary to keep us on the standard where we belong.

Yours truly,

(Signed) P. H. B.

Dear Editor:

This year military drill has been taken from the required courses for seniors. Previously the student body had not been large enough to allow this concession and at the same time have the required number in the college battalion to enable the college to receive certain sums of money from the government. Moreover, due to the large enrollment this year drill has been made elective for juniors.

All sophomores and freshmen, except those now holding reserve commissions, are compelled to drill. However any underclassman who has seen actual military service, exclusive of the S. A. T. C. must drill unless he holds a reserve commission. To the writer this seems an injustice inasmuch as there are about a dozen men who have seen actual service, either here or overseas, as non-coms or privates. Their obligations as soldiers are finished but upon returning to C. A. C. they are given no option as to whether they shall drill or not. Is it fair that one who has served either in this country or overseas be compelled to drill and at the same time allow a Junior or Senior who saw nearly two months of the honorable (?) S. A. T. C. doings to elect drill? Should not drill be decided upon prior service at present? When another college generation enters C. A. C. then two years of drill would be justified regardless of the number of underclassmen.

From the personal standpoint the writer is not affected but he believes in fair play for those who saw army life and regulations.

Sincerely,

An ex-private, U. S. Army.

Dear Editor:

Cussin', cussin', all the time
Never stop to think
That this constant cussin', cussin',
Leads us to the blink.

The Seniors "darn" and say "O slush"
Their learning takes that fall.
The co-eds stop their ear agast,
They do not swear at all.

The Junior holds an even sway,
He cusses when he will,
He has a year in which to quit,
He can't be cussin' still.

The sophomore, wisest of the wise,
No muzzle could him restrain,
He things and lives and talks an oath,
And then he swears again.

The freshman, meek and overawed,
With indignation burns,
He thinks that cussin' makes a man,
He has a lot to learn.

And so in all this cussin' game,
We are but freshmen still,
Except the sophomore, he's a fool,
The wisest on the "hill."—D.D.

Editor—"Have you heard any jokes around the hall this week?"

Junior (in tone of extreme disgust)
"No, but I've seen a lot of them."

CONNECTICUT AGGIES VS. SPRINGFIELD Y. M. C. A.

FAST GAME PLAYED
TIE SCORE OF 0-0

Second Teams Play Good Game on Gardner Dow Field Saturday

The connecticut second team played their hardest and best game so far this season with the Springfield Y. M. C. A. second team on the Gardner Dow Field last Saturday afternoon. The Aggie team was outweighed on the average of fifteen pounds per man, but displayed more fight and aggressiveness throughout the game. Not once in the whole game was the opposing team dangerous. In the first quarter Connecticut started the march on down the field to Springfield's one-yard line where they were held on downs. Springfield punted to Marsh in mid-field and the two teams battled back and forth until the end of the half.

The second half opened up with Springfield receiving, and from them on the two teams kept up a continual exchange of punts. Springfield tried a forward which was intercepted by Sneiderman. At this point Wooster rounded left end for the longest run of the game. The game ended with the ball in the Aggies' hands, on the fifty yard line. Trost and Klein did wonderful work in line plunging, gaining consistently. Bendokas also played a whirlwind game at tackle and smeared many of Springfield's plays for losses. Marsh played a fine open game and ran the team to perfection. At the end of the second half the game remained a tie, neither side having been able to score a single point.

BASKETBALL BEGUN LAST MONDAY NIGHT

About Thirty Men Were in Uniform—Several Last Year's Men Were Out

The initial basketball practice was held Monday night under the guidance of Coaches Guyer and Swartz. About thirty men were in uniform, and a number who are present on the football squad were on the sidelines watching. The outlook for a successful season was never brighter at the Aggie College and Coach Guyer was extremely well pleased with the outlook.

Capt. Gronwoldt, ex-Capt. Lockwood, Dean, Prescott, Putnam and Elcock of last year's team are back and are ready to put up their old aggressive game for the blue and white. Sickler, a former Hartford High Star, Alexander, Captain of last year's Crosby High team, Baxter, a Stamford High player, and a number of other prep school players are out and will put up some stiff opposition to gain a place on the team.

Connecticut's big weakness in the past has been a lack of capable sub-

SERIES OF INTERCLASS GAMES BEGIN

The interclass games started on Monday afternoon when the Sophomores and Juniors met on the Gardner Dow Field. The Sophomores won by the score of 6-0.

The game was very well played, considering the fact that neither team had practiced together. Wooster, at halfback for the Sophomores, was the individual star of the game. He made the touchdown, besides making frequent long runs around the end. Marsh at quarterback, also of the Sophomores, played a good steady game.

The purpose of these interclass games is to arouse the enthusiasm of the student body in football and to get as many out as possible, and in this way work up new material for next year, to say nothing of this. Wooster, by his excellent showing, has been given a try-out on the varsity as a result of his good playing.

By the interest shown in Monday's game, there is no doubt that these interclass games will be a big success. The Sophs were out on one side of the field rooting for their team. They were given some support by the Seniors. The Juniors were on the other side supported by a large number of Freshmen.

The big game will undoubtedly be the Sophomore-Freshman game which is scheduled for Monday, Nov. 17. The Freshmen are already practicing for the event, and claim that they are going to pay back the Sophs for the ducking in Swan Lake.

Following is the schedule of interclass games:

Monday, Oct. 13—
Juniors vs. Sophomores.
Monday, Oct. 20—
Freshmen vs. School of Agr.
Monday, Oct. 27—
Sophs. vs. School of Agr.
Monday, Nov. 3—
Juniors vs. Freshmen.
Monday, Nov. 10—
Juniors vs. School of Agr.
Monday, Nov. 17—
Sophs. vs. Freshmen.

stitutes, so that when one of the regular players was forced out of the game, the teamwork fell thru, but it looks as if we would have ten men of varsity caliber this year, and this defect would be overcome. Manager Moore is working hard on the schedule, and hopes to be able to announce it soon. At the present time he has secured eight games, two each with Rhode Island, Trinity, and Mass. Aggies, and one each with New Hampshire and Middlebury, but he is communicating with a number of other colleges and expects to build up a schedule of fifteen or sixteen games.

Support our teams whether in victory or defeat and yell yourselves hoarse.

There is a probability that the second team will line up against Stevens on Saturday.

FRESHMEN SHOW UP WELL ON TRACK

In an effort to organize track sports at C. A. C. a freshman track meet was held on Gardner Dow Athletic Field Monday, October 13, 1919.

The individual star of the meet was Lilley, a former Hartford High athlete, who won first prize in both the 100 yd. dash and the high jump. Levey also a former Hartford High man, was a runner-up with 8 points.

The big surprise of the meet was Lilley's defeat of Levey in the 100 yd. dash. Levey who was Hartford High's star sprinter last season, was expected to win in easy fashion. He got away to a fine start and led for the first fifty yards, when Lilley, with a fine burst of speed, overtook him and breasted the tape with a comfortable lead.

The track was in poor condition and the times slow in consequence, but some very promising track material was in evidence. There is no reason why we cannot, with a little work have a very good track team which will compare favorably with the other athletic teams at C. A. C.

The results:

100 yd. Dash
1st, Lilley; 2nd, Levey, 3rd, Gates.
Time 11 sec.

880 yd. Run
1st, Patterson, 2nd, Stocking, 3rd, Beardsley. Time 2 min. 15 sec.

Broad Jump
1st, Franklin, 17 ft.; 2nd, Dossin, 16 ft. 10 in.; 3rd, Bemont, L. H., 16 ft. 2 in.

220-yd. Dash.
1st, Levey; 2nd, Beardsley; 3rd, Leavenworth, Time 26 3-5 sec.

High Jump
1st, Lilley, 5 ft. 1 in.; 2nd, Brundage, 5 ft.; 3rd, Franklin, Ives, Boch, Platt, tied, 4 ft. 9 in.

440-yd. Run
1st, Cohen, S. G.; 2nd, Bryant; 3rd, Bindloss. Time 64 3-5 sec.

TENNIS

In the second round of the tennis tournament which was played last week the less experienced men had to give way to the veteran players. The matches run off resulted as follows: Upham defeated Rome 3-6, 6-4; Griswold defeated Fogg 2-6, 6-1, 6-1; Bridges defeated Austin 2-6, 6-2, 6-0; Wood defeated Pinkham 6-0, 6-4.

GARDNER DOW FIELD

No monument or stone have we
To help hold dear the memory
Of one who with us worked and play'd.
But on that field where oft we fight
To hold on high the Blue and White
We've placed the name that cannot fade.

And as he fought and played the game
Let those who follow do the same.
Play hard! Win victory, not shame,
Upon that field which bears his name.
"McGinnty"

VINING WRITES A BOOK

Professor R. H. Vining the new instructor in the English Department, is doing some extensive research work in early American literature. During the years immediately before the Revolution, and for some time after the war had started there was much dramatic writing in the colonies. Most of these early dramas have valuable historic interest, and Professor Vining's book on the subject will cover the points of interest in connection with these.

COLLEGE RECEIVES GIFT OF COW

The following article of interest was taken from the Connecticut Agricultural College Press Bulletin of October 16, 1919.

In the interest of the Jersey breed and the Connecticut Agricultural College at Storrs, Col. A. V. Barnes of New Canaan, Conn., recently donated Beadesert Pet, No. 236,177. She was presented immediately after the completion of her last record and she is now contentedly working for the state.

As a three year old this cow produced 11,806 lbs. of milk and 610 lbs. fat; as a five year old she produced 12,409 lbs. of milk and 540 lbs. fat; and at eight years of age she produced 13,807 lbs. milk and 763 lbs. fat, the average test for the last record being 5.5 per cent. Her picture occurs on page 423 of the 1915 edition of the Registry of Merit.

Beadesert Pet is one of the good cows bred in Connecticut by the veteran L. V. Walkly at Southington. Her dam, Pet of Bellevue, made the state record in 1914 with 788 lbs. of fat and again in 1915 boosted it to 791 lbs. of fat. She lost the record to her sister, The Seers of Alberta 2nd with 882 lbs. of butter fat. Both cows were sired by Rearguard, No. 70,962. The sire of Beadesert Pet is Gedney Farm Girl Oxford, No. 75,998. He has 24 Registry of Merit daughters and was sired by the famous Oxford Lad. Gedney Farm Girl's Oxford's photograph occurs on page 423 of the 1915 edition of the Registry of Merit. Since the college has some splendid young daughters of their former herd sire, Jolly Oxford Lad (son of Oxford Lad), Beadesert Pet not only comes to add her influence as an individual but brings blood similar to other members of the herd. Her son, Owl of Bellevue, has five daughters in the Registry of Merit.

Two days after her arrival Beadesert Pet presented a heifer calf to the herd. Its sire, Fauvie's Prince, is Mr. Barnes' herd bull, that has been siring uniformly high class daughters, both in conformation and production. One of them, Princess Xenia, holds the world's record as a Senior two year old with 689 lbs. of butter fat and others head their classes in the state records.

PRESIDENT'S HOUR

Colonel Herbert of the 26th Division, who was to speak on the American Legion at President's Hour on Wednesday, October 8, was unable to be present. L. Cleveland Fieussenich, who was a first lieutenant in the 102d Infantry gave a brief talk on his experiences. He told about all the principal actions his regiment took part in. W. C. Atkins also spoke about his experiences with the 102d. Both speakers urged all ex-service men to join the American Legion.

Paul Manwaring is teaching courses in Theology in Room III. Harry Lockwood will assist in extension work when his motor-cycle is assembled.

WHAT IS THAT STEAM?

The great clouds of vapor which arise from a hole in the ground near the Mechanic Arts building have mystified many. Perhaps they thought that the aperture was an outlet for smoke steam or the like from a tunnel of some subterranean railroad. Maybe it came from a young Vesuvius. But that is not so. The whole trouble results from a break in a union of the main steam pipe.

The dairy building uses thirty pounds of steam which is an increase of twenty-five pounds over that used by the other buildings. This extra pressure not only causes a daily enlargement of the break but also a greater waste of steam.

This escapement of steam is of great economical importance as it is estimated that enough escapes daily to run a passenger train from New York to Boston. Mr. Blake, superintendent of buildings and the college engineering force will undertake to repair the break.

SHAKESPEAREAN CLUB

The fraternity smoker was held on Friday evening, October 10. J. H. Hildring, '17, L. L. Crosby, '19, and C. R. Brock, '19, all former editor-in-chief of the "Campus" were all present Friday and Saturday, October 10 and 11.

A. J. Webb, '13, is selling Fordson Tractors in Connecticut with headquarters in Bridgeport.

D. H. Horton, '18, who is working at the Gilbert Farm, Georgetown, Ct., is in charge of 1150 chickens and 400 old hens. He has broken into newspaper writing, as an article in the Rural New Yorker for Oct. 11, will testify.

ETA LAMBDA SIGMA

Arthur J. Reeve, ex-'19, spent the week end on the Hill.

Carl L. Alberti, ex-'20, was recently married.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Higgins of Bloomfield, N. J., announce the engagement of their daughter, Virginia, to Edward J. Renchen, '16. Mr. Renchen is now engaged in agricultural work in New Jersey.

George W. H. Peters, '13, of La Havre, California, is an official of a new orange grove syndicate whose object is to standardize the industry and put oranges on the market at a more reasonable price.

Arthur N. MacAubey, of Wendell, Idaho, has just bought another large wheat ranch adjoining his own. Mr. MacAubey is the owner of a large clothing house in Wendell.

A recent visitor is said to have expressed surprise at the necessity of an infirmary and two cemeteries so near the dining hall.

Marcus McCanon can say Babylonian without a bubble.

ALPHA PHI

Ralph Henry, '16, is a traveling salesman for a large Perfume Concern. "Becky" covers the Southern States and enjoys the work as it enables him to see a large part of the country.

William McNicol, '16, now resides in Jewett City. He represents the people of this place in the State Senate at Hartford.

'20, Leon Kibbe, '22, and "Shorty"

William Finney, '22, "Bud" Hemion Ellis, '15, were visitors on the Hill over the last week end. Remarks were made by them about the increased number of students. When leaving the Hill in the old Reliable Ford, the Henry true to life, left with a Bang as many already know.

Frank Rimoldi, '13, is now an instructor at Rhode Island State. He is teaching Horticulture and Entomology. After leaving C. A. C. Mr. Rimoldi went to Cornell getting advanced degrees in the above subjects.

Imbert Fellows, '16, is a frequent visitor on the Hill as his business makes it necessary.

Walter Ackerman, '15, recently discharged from service has entered the teaching staff at Connecticut Agricultural College. Mr. Ackerman is instructing Rural Engineering and subjects connected therewith.

The annual fraternity smoker is to be held this evening, Friday, Oct. 17.

BLACKGUARDS

There will be a meeting of the "Blackguards" on Wednesday evening, October 22, at 6:30 P. M. in Room 7, Main Building, in order to reorganize for the year.

The "Blackguards" is the Minstrel Club which will be remembered as the producers of the Soldier Boy Minstrels in 1917. A minstrel show will probably be staged in the very near future, the proceeds to go for some student activity. It has been suggested that the money taken in be set aside for the erection of a tablet on Gardner Dow Field, in memory of the man for whom the field was named, as he was a member of the "Blackguards."

The following men now students here are members of the organization, and from them officers will be picked on Wednesday evening:

F. J. Mahoney, Charles Compton, E.D. Dow, Morris Downs, Fred Maier, William Maloney, Clifford Prescott, Emanuel Shulman, Earl Moore, Benjamin Brow and Daniel Graf.

Good material can also be found in the lower classes. Van Buren, Hemmeler Ricketts, McKee and Hughes should show up well, and Paul Manwaring, '20, will easily be able to win a place in the first cast.

Daniel Graf is going to bring suit against certain individuals who are mentioning things about his activities of late.

DEBATING CLUB

On October 13 the Debating Club held its first meeting of the year, and immediately set to work to reorganize to such an extent that debating will be one of the prime factors on the Hill. President R. P. Hughes presided and after an extended discussion by members of the Club and Professor R. H. Vining, who is to act as faculty adviser, a committee of three members, Shulman, '21, Osborne, '21, and Heid, '22, was appointed to draw up a new constitution. This year it is planned to have membership extended to only those successfully passing the "Try-outs." If possible the club will take part in some intercollegiate debates.

Challenges for debates have been received from Mass. Aggies and R. I. State College. The proposition before the meeting was to determine how we might best prepare to meet these challenges.

Shulman, '21, suggested that the Debating Society be made more exclusive, barring all those who will not take an active interest; and that dues be imposed upon members. The latter suggestion carried out would finance a debating team making trips.

Mr. Vining gave a short talk assuring those present that the Debating Society had the heartiest support of the English Department.

SIGMA ALPHA PI

Word has been received from Geo. Kinnear, '20, that he is back in Westbury, R. I., and expects to visit the Hill in the near future. Kinnear was undoubtedly the first man to leave this institution to enter the war, leaving here February 2, 1917 to enter the Ambulance Service in the Canadian Army. He went overseas within a month and was stationed at a large camp near London for several months before being sent to France. He served there with the Ambulance Service for twenty-three months returning to the United States in late September.

Dr. A. B. Sturgess of Wallingford, one of the charter members of the fraternity, visited here on October 10.

Walter Smith, '17, is at present working manager on the farm of Norman Peck in Kensington.

Percil Sanford, '18, connected with the Food Research Laboratory in Indianapolis, Indiana, is at present in Kansas, having finished his work in Tennessee.

Albert C. Klingman, '17, also with the Food Research Laboratory is stationed at Indianapolis with his wife and child.

In the July number of the "Short-horn World Quarterly" appeared an article written by Douglas A. Evans, '20, entitled "The Milking Shorthorn in New England."

The Hauschild place, lately bought by the college, is being converted into a men's dormitory to meet the emergency. Furniture and equipment have been bought and are on the way.

SATURDAY EVENING
MOVIES SHOWN NOW*Student Operators Run Machine

Ice Cream on Sale

Saturday evening, October 4th, saw the first movies of the season shown in Hawley Armory. Harold Lockwood was the star character in "The Great Romance." Twenty cents admission was charged for the pictures and a dime from each man who danced after the show. Ice cream cones were on sale to relieve those who suffered from the oppressive warmth of the evening.

The college orchestra played through the pictures and for the dancing afterwards. W. F. Maloney director of the orchestra, says that he can see continual improvement in their music, as a result of practice.

Walter F. Wood, who ran most of the pictures last year, and Earle Moore, who is a licensed operator and has returned after a year's absence, have full charge of the operator's booth to show the pictures.

Meetings of the Agricultural Club will be held regularly in the future and as many different subjects by well-versed agricultural speakers and workers will be covered as the club can arrange for.

PHI MU DELTA

The members of the Nu Alpha Chapter of Phi Mu Delta introduced their fraternity hats on the morning of the smoker, October 15.

The hats are similar in shape to the whites worn in the navy and are made of white felt. The letters of the fraternity are embroidered in silk so as to show just above the brim, the Phi and Delta being in black and the Nu in gold.

This type of hat is the standard style of the National Fraternity.

John McCarthy, '17, was a visitor on the Hill Sunday, October 12th.

Captain Leslie Lawrence of Fort Riley, Kansas, visited here the week of October 11. He expects to be discharged soon.

Joseph Salisbury '16 recently bought a pure bred English Setter. He made a visit to the Hill and while here spent some of his time hunting.

"Hip" Manning dropped in on us one evening last week.

"Joe" Ayer was at the college Sunday, October 5th.

George Prindle, '17, has returned to Connecticut Agricultural College after being in the service. He is to take up work in the Horticulture Department.

Martin Roser, Walter Francis, John McCarthy, Fred Trinder, and Leslie Lawrence were among those that attended the football game at Trinity, Hartford.

Robert Hawley is taking a Mechanic Arts course at Trinity.

Zunk Prescott, according to reports from the Trinity game, is doing himself justice in the social line.

MEADE IN MINNESOTA STUDIES DAIRY CATTLE

CHOOSSES TO DO WORK UNDER PROF. ECKLES

Thinks Their Cattle Do Not Compare with Ours Likes the West

S. W. Meade, '17, who received second place in the dairy judging contest at the National Dairy Show held during 1916, had the scholarship for one year's graduate work in dairying at any state college awarded him on the death of the man who held first place in the contest. He chose to study under Prof. Eckles of Minnesota. This scholarship was offered by the promoters of the Jersey breed of cattle.

Friends at Connecticut Agricultural College will be interested in the following letter, received by an alumnus at the college from "Tommy" Meade.

University of Minnesota,
Oct. 2, 1919.

Hello Frank:

How's the boy? I'm back at the old job again. Last year at this time I was living in darned old dugout, and this year I think I am worse off than ever. Last year all my thinking was done for me and this year I have to do it all myself. And I guess I'll have to use this old brain of mine to the limit. I often wonder if it is worth while. A fellow without any education at all gets four to five dollars a day and all I get is about $3.50, same as the Wops and Polocks get. It sure is a queer world. I have been up here since Sept. 25 and if I ever get my schedule straightened out I think I will like it out here quite well. Of course it does not compare with old C. A. C. We of the east believe in Quality and Quantity. Right? They have a big bunch of cattle out here but comparatively few good ones. Prof. Eckles who came here this spring is thinning them out right and left and I think he will build up a good herd. I received the Campus yesterday and sure was glad to know of the excellent showing C. A. C. made at the Eastern States Exposition. Out here Storrs as they call it seems to have a pretty good standing. I am rooming with a fellow from Missouri. Our house is about one-half mile from the campus. The enrollment is so large this year that some of the students have been unable to secure rooms even by going to Minneapolis. The freshmen this year number 2500. I am the only one at present time who is doing full time work in milk production but there are others who are doing part-time work. Well, Frank, I've got to get to work so I will close.

Faternally yours,

TOMMY.

Brub Dow is having considerable difficulty of late in "looking 'em over" due to an injury to his right eye. Shows that the Sophomores will have revenge.

DAIRY NOTES

George S. Stuart, for several years the College Dairy Herdsman, leaves this week for Waterbury, where he will have a herd of Guernsey cattle as well as the farm under his direction. The farm is that of Mr. Charles L. Holmes, at the Country Club, and is under the superintendency of F. J. Harrison.

The position left vacant will, for a time at least, be filled by Ralph W. Brown, '17 S, of Central Village.

The Dairy department has strengthened its Holstein herd by the purchase of Dodge Farm Farseda Bernice De Kol. This bull is sired by Maple Crest Farseda Butter Boy and is out of Dodge Farm Bernice, who now holds the New England as well as the State record for production over all ages and breeds. The college expects that this bull will increase the production and better the type of the Holsteins here.

FARM DEPARTMENT

The flock of Merino ewes brought here from the Eastern States Exposition to the College Farm have been sold down to the operating minimum of 20 head, recent buyers being: Grassland Farms, Taconic Otto May, Canterbury John J. Campbell, Tolland George A. Wetherell, Southbridge Lewis Tuttle, Woodbury Connecticut Farm for Women, Niantic

The Sheep Extension Department is negotiating for another carload of similar ewes to enlarge their depot flock.

New London is also bringing in a carload of western ewes for immediate distribution in that county alone.

NON-FRATERNITY MEN TO ORGANIZE

With the development of the Mediator as the student judicial body, it has become advisable for the non-fraternity men to arrange some sort of an organization so that they may have representation in that body. At present, they have two members in the Mediator, Mr. Harold Neuman, '21, and Mr. W. Pool, '21, these representatives having one vote between them. When the non-fraternity organization is completed, an arrangement will probably be made to make their number of Mediator votes equal the non-frat membership divided by the average membership of the various frats on the Hill. This will give them a fair representation.

The Non-Frat men have not completed any hard and fast organization as yet and from all reports do not intend to put much power in the hands of officers. The voting member of the Mediator has called the few meetings already held and appointed a temporary secretary at them. The purpose of the Non-Frat Brotherhood will be to provide a recreation room for their men and arrange for representation in the Mediator.
