NO. 24

H. W. WARDLE TO EDIT CAMPUS FOR 1925-1926

NELSON BUSINESS MGR.

Belden to be Managing Editor—Several Changes and Additions Made—New Positions Created.

At a recent meeting of the Campus board, Harold W. Wardle, '26, was chosen as Editor-in-Chief, and Edwin W. Nelson, '26, was selected Business Manager for the coming year. Wallace S. Moreland, '26 and L. Richard Belden, '27, were elected to the positions of Associate Editor and Managing Editor respectively, and Herman Gauger, '27, was named as Assistant Business Manager. Gerald D. Allard, '26, will fill the position of Sports Editor, and David L. McAllister, '26, William J. Donovan, '26, and John L. Breitweiser, '27, will be the news editors during the next year.

Several new members have been placed on the News Board and Associate Board to fill the positions which have recently been vacated. The members of the News Board consist of Wright D. Gifford, '26, Sarah E. Croll, '27, Francis Ryan, '28, Edward R. Collins, '28, Bartlet Barnes, '28, and Cecil R. Smith, '27. The Associate Board includes Harold W. Cleveland, '28, Elizabeth Service, '26, Helen Lowenberger, '27, Frances Schreiber, (cont. on page 5, col. 1)

Prominent Men Elected to Guide Student Government—Lewis Becomes Student Senate President

At a recent meeting of the Student Organization held for the annual election of officers, Sidney Lewis, '26, was elected president; Lewis J. Quigley, '26, first vice-president; Edwin T. Lundberg, '27, second vice-president; and Harold Hadley, '28, secretary. The men have been prominent in athletics and other student activities.

Sidney Lewis has been active in student affairs for three years here on the Hill. He was on the Springfield Debating Team this year, is vice-president of the Debating Club, and is a member of Pi Kappa Delta. He is a member of the Mediator and has been on the Student Senate, and the Mid-year Formal Executive Committee. He was elected to Gamma Chi Epsilon this year. As president (Cont. on page 6 col. 1)

COLORFUL JUNIOR WEEK BROUGHT TO A CLOSE

OVER 400 ATTEND PROM

Armory Decorations Among Features—Junior Play Pleases Large Audience—College Back to Normal.

The campus has finally resumed its everyday garb after witnessing one of the most successful junior weeks in the history of the College. The festivities were formally opened by the junior parade before the baseball game in the afternoon and in the evening the Junior-Senior Banquet was held.

The next morning the competitive drill took most of the attention. In the afternoon the baseball team took the measure of Rhode Island before a large number of prom guests. At eight-thirty on Friday evening the junior prom took place in Hawley Armory which had been tastefully decorated for the occasion.

Cavallero's orchestra from New Haven furnished an excellent program of dance music and the grand march was led by Lewis J. Quigley and Miss Margaret North. A record crowd attended the dance, and it was estimated that over two hundred and fifty couples were present. The Druids in accordance with their time-honored custom, made their appearance at the prom and were distinguished by a narrow band of red ribbon running diagonally across their shirt fronts.

The prom lasted until two-thirty, at which time the orchestra played the familiar tune of "Home Sweet Home" to an appreciative crowd who were as yet unweiried with dancing and hoped against hope that the pleasing orchestra would play just one more encore.

One of the pleasant features of the prom this year was the decoration of the Armory, in which there was one harmonious color scheme used to decorate the whole Armory. The decorations in themselves had a special appeal in their simple and effective designs.

The class tree was dedicated Saturday morning and the Co-eds of the junior class entertained at the tea dance in the afternoon. Cavallero's again furnished the music and the Armory seemed to look as well in the soft glow of afternoon spring sunshine as it did the night before under the subdued artificial lights.

The junior play was given before a crowded house on Saturday evening and furnished a suitable climax for such a weekend. The play had a well chosen theme and the characters were (Cont. on page 6 col. 1)

DRUIDS MAKE JUNIOR PROM APPEARANCE

SEVEN SENIORS HONORED

Members of Senior Secret Society Known for First Time—All Men Prominent in College Activities.

An added touch of color was given the Junior Prom by the appearance of the seven Druids wearing a red band diagonally across their chests. The Druids is the senior secret society comprised of the seven seniors who have been most active and worked the hardest for their Alma Mater. During the Prom, the seven most prominent men in the junior class received the high honor of being secretly tapped into the Druids. Their identity will remain unknown until they reveal themselves at the Junior Prom of next year.

The Druids for the present year are John W. Balock, of New Britain; Clemens J. Diemand of New Britain; Maxon A. Eddy of Simsbury; Raymond M. Keeler, of Ridgefield; Thomas J. Kennedy of Hartford; William F. O'Brien of Waterbury; Martin L. O'Neil of New Britain. All of these men have been prominent in activities during their four years at Connecticut.

Baylock has played an active part in athletics, having been a member of the varsity football and basketball teams for four years and during the past two years has captained the basketball team. In his senior year he was president of the Athletic Association, and has been a member of the Varsity Club since his freshman year. He has also taken an active part in debating and is a member of Pi Kappa Delta. He is also a member of Gamma Chi Epsilon and the Phi Mu Delta fraternities.

Diemand has been actively connected with publications, being editor of the 1924 Nutmeg and Associate Editor of the Campus during his senior year. He is a member of the Student Senate, president of the Mediator and president of his class. He is a member of Gamma Chi Epsilon and the Alpha Phi fraternities.

Eddy has been a regular member of the football team for the last four (Cont. on page 2 col. 2)

The long looked for and much needed new dormitory for men received a big push nearer reality when the legislature on last Tuesday passed a bill providing appropriations to the College for the next two years. According to an official statement by President Beach on last Thursday, the appropriation included $168,400 for the new dormitory, and plans are now under way for commencing the construction which will be started as soon as possible.

The new structure is to be placed, according to the future building plan, between the athletic field in the vicinity of the bleachers, and the dining hall. This site is in accordance with the making of a court with the dining hall in the center, and with Koons Hall, Storrs Hall, and the new dormitories around it.

The new dorm, the name of which has not been chosen, will be similar to Koons and Storrs Halls in outward appearance, but the architectural plans of the interior will be modified and improved, making it more attractive and cheerful. It is designed, as the men's dormitories we now have are, for one hundred men. The building is to be of brick and will be granite trimmed. A construction contractor will have the work of building it.

While the new dorm will not help out the housing situation this fall, it is expected that it will be completed so that it can be occupied a year from this fall.

The addition of this building is altogether consistent with the growth of the college and the need of a new science building, with classroom and laboratory space is much felt.

Besides the new dormitory for men, other important projects, which received appropriations in the legislative bill last week, were two double cottages $31,000, coal bunker $15,000, extension of steam lines $5,000 and extension of water mains $6,500. This represents a big gain towards the ten-year extension policy of the College.

The committee, which includes President Beach, who presented the needs of the College to the Appropriations Committee, are to be commended for their efforts in securing the above appropriations.

THE NEW BOARD

This issue of the Campus marks the advent of the new board in their efforts to successfully publish your college paper. To state or to outline our policy for the coming year would be out of place at this time, for by your criticism and advice will we better fulfill our job of recording the everyday events of college life. There is no glory or reward waiting for us at the end of our journalistic career, and whatever we accomplish in the months to come will be judged by you not upon the policy which we might here try to state, but with whatever success the paper fulfills its purpose. It is enough to say then, that we shall exist as a recording medium for college news, leaving you to be the judge as to whether or not the board thru its members and organization really achieves its purpose.

JUNIOR WEEK

The gala week just passed stands out in the minds of those who enjoyed it as the best that Connecticut has ever held. From the Junior Parade, which started it, to the dance following "Expressing Willie" on Saturday night, the traditional week was an unqualified success. For this success we must thank the whole college in general, and the juniors in particular.

Junior Week to Connecticut is one time when painstaking efforts make the college appear at its best. Connecticut men and women take pleasure in showing their friends the college life and spirit which exists on the Hill. It is a week when old friendships are renewed and new ones made. When studies and other scholastic activities are cast to the winds for the joy and pleasure of the gala occasion. And when it is all over, as now, there still remain memories that will linger a long while.

THE NUTMEG

Last week Tuesday the 1925 Nutmeg was formally introduced to Connecticut society just a few days late of the time scheduled for its Junior Week distribution. But even though a little late in appearance, still it was welcome.

This year's book is a two hundred and forty-five page volume containing a complete record of college life from its start of the 1924-1925 year to the present time. It is without doubt the best membook that any student can keep even disregarding the minor errors which it contains. Within its covers will be found some of the more interesting "slants" on college life; events that most students miss, and which will be looked back upon in later years with a great deal of humor. Do you really know Connecticut life? Buy a Nutmeg, if you have not already paid your business office assessment, and read it through carefully. It is well worth your while and double the value which it costs!

years, and played varsity basketball in his junior and senior years. He was Sports Editor of the Campus last year, and is a member of the Mediator. He is a member of the Eta Lambda Sigma fraternity.

Keeler was manager of the football team last fall and is a member of the Varsity Club. He was a member of the Business Board of the Campus for three years and has taken an active part in class activities. He is a member of the Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity.

Kennedy was business manager of the Nutmeg last year as well as manager of baseball. He was president of his class his freshman year and has played on class basketball and baseball teams. He is a member of Gamma Chi Epsilon, Alpha Tau Phi and Alpha Phi fraternities.

O'Brien has played an active part in athletics, having been a member of the basketball and baseball teams for four years. He is a member of the Varsity Club and was president his senior year. He is a member of the Student Senate, the Mediator, the Dramatic Club, the Glee Club, and president of the Blue and White Club. The College Shakespearean Club is his fraternity.

O'Neil has been conspicuous as a football player and captained the team in his junior and senior years. Besides athletics he has been actively engaged in dramatics, and was president of the Dramatic Club his senior year. He is a member of the Phi Epsilon Pi fraternity which he represented in the Mediator his junior and senior years.

THE CRITIQUE

"MOONSHINE"

The realistic presentation of "Moonshine", although produced mainly by the individual interpretations of the actors, O'Neil and Tilley, was heightened considerably by the fitness of these two men for their parts. Martin O'Neil needed little make-up in the role of the moonshiner. He was the real thing. By the way he swallowed his liquor one would think he had drunk moonshine all his life. Tilley seems to look upon life with just carelessness and nonchalance as Jim Dunn. Nor was their aptitude for their respective roles wholly responsible for their creditable performance; they put into it the individual touches needed. It was gratifying to see that Tilley kept his glasses on; because without them his vision is so impaired as to necessitate the rolling of the eyeballs which was mentioned in his initial appearance in "Pygmalion and Galatea".

"THE RED OWL"

The audience was quite surprised to see that the owl was not red. One of the Co-eds should have rubbed the nocturnal and erudite creature with a bit of rouge. A little more color, a trifle more in the foreground, and the ominous bird would have added the touch needed to justify the title. As it was the red owl was a minor detail. It hung its head in a rather shy and unimpassioned manner.

The lighting and stage setting were exceptionally well done. Mr. Tilley deserves special commendation for his efforts to put more realism in the background. The firelight and moonlight combination was striking. Heretofore the scenery has been makeshift and often crude. This time it was makeshift but artistic.

The actors in the "Red Owl" were, like the setting, exceptionally good. Miss Phyllis Smith as the wife added another to her already long list of successful roles. Being naturally capable of deep emotion, she lets herself out for fine shades of feeling at times. We have only one criticism to make of Richard Belden because of the fact that it was his initial appearance on our stage; the habit of keeping his hands behind him cannot be highly commended. It may have solved the problems of keeping them out of his pockets but it did not add to his grace of movement. Gesture is as much a part of dialogue as vociferous dialogue. He did so well, though, that it is almost a shame to inject even this much criticism.

Jake Ahern again made a hit. He seems to be a "born" actor. Once he is on the stage he forgets all else except the chap he is trying to represent. There is no hesitation in voice, speech or manner. He acts spontaneously, vigorously, and gracefully. Again it is questionable whether we ought to mention that he should have assumed a feigned nonchalance when the blue-coat appeared. His face seemed to tell too much, as did Phyllis'. It was also remarked that Billipp might have avoided the ludicrous police garb by appearing as a plain clothes detective. But his acting was not in tune with his attire; his unperturbed manner and his poise made one overlook the 18th century Willi police suit.

"SPRING"

Although the story is an old one, in "Spring" the acting was so natural and so artistic that the performance "went over big". Jake Ahern and Miss Larsen had a keen understanding of the possibilities of this little play. The dialogue itself is nil; the meaning of the play is all in the manner of expression—and express it they did. The writer was impressed more by the play than any other play ever presented by the State College Players, excepting only "Ile". Not because of its content, humor or pathos (and it had all these) but because of the tender whimsical appeal which the actors put into it.

The program, as a whole, was very ably presented, directed and staged. Prof. Seckerson, Winthrop Tilley and Rudolph Billipp are to be congratulated on the productions.

Billipp may here be mentioned in connection with the properties. He has often played the dual role of artist and artisan. In criticism of the setting of "Spring", we would suggest a dimmer light on the lamppost. The effect was too glaring for those whose eyes are sensitive to such light. This act, too, showed a real attempt to do something in the line of realistic craftsmanship. These details were not unnoticed nor unappreciated by the audience.

CLEMENT WOOD DELIGHTS
ASSEMBLY AUDIENCE

"Poets of America," was the subject of Clement Wood, poet and author, who addressed an appreciative audience at Assembly last Wednesday. In the course of his address he pointed out the fact that the old poets such as Longfellow, Bryant, Whittier and several others could not be called poets of the first rank, although they wrote charming verse, since their works for the most part were imitative.

Mr. Wood spoke of Edgar Allan Poe, Walt Whitman and Sidney Lanier as America's outstanding writers of true poetry. Concerning the modern poets he spoke highly of Robert Frost, Carl Sandburg, Elinor Wylie, Rose O'Neill, Edna St. Vincent Millay and Grace Conkling, and stated that they were writers of the first rank. He questioned the late Amy Lowell's ability as a poet.

Mr. Wood also delivered a few of his own poems, consisting of the "Purple Doe", "The Year's Young", and "The Singing Savior". In addition, he rendered his poem, "The Glory Road", written in negro dialect. His parting advice to those who think that they possess poetic ability was to "use a living vocabulary" and "to have something to say".

CO-ED NOTES

STATE H. E. CONVENTION HELD HERE ON MAY 9

Miss Elizabeth Condit of Pratt Institute and Miss Mary Walker of the Amory Brown Co Give Interesting Addresses

The convention of the State Home Economics Association was held at Storrs on Saturday, May 9. A regular program was arranged which proceeded as follows:

9:30 Welcome by Pres. C. L. Beach and Miss M. E. Sprague.

9:45 Some Opportunities of Home Economics Workers, Miss Elizabeth Condit of Pratt Inst.

11:00 Lunch.

12:45 Business Meeting.

1:00 Practical Application of Color to Inexpensive Fabrics, Mary Walker.

2:00 Tour of Campus.

3:00 Tea at Holcomb Hall.

Mrs. M. E. Dakin, nutrition specialist, presided over the meeting.

Miss Condit gave a very interesting talk on "The Opportunities of a Home Economics Worker," in which she said that the business of the home is considered by many housewives as an unpleasant duty.

Teachers must be ready to cooperate; be ready to do newspaper publicity work; help parents and teachers' associations, fairs, lunch rooms, etc. Those who do this will do effective work.

Miss Condit illustrated her talk with a great deal of illustrative material which included posters done in two public schools in Brooklyn.

Miss Condit spoke of the scheme of contests. In one case cold milk was sold in paper cups. Honor was awarded for the selling of so many cups, and at the same time the habit of drinking milk is acquired.

The next phase of her topic was the teaching of foreign children. In such a case it was suggested that the cooking class be a place where these children learn to like American foods and form the proper habits of eating. It is also an opportunity for the cooking teacher to give in class the foods which she wishes them to eat and thus acquire the right habits of eating.

Miss Condit told of the work at Pratt in which she said that the different problems are worked out in groups. They organize so that everybody will reap the same benefit. Girls who do work at home should be taught in a different way. She concluded her talk by saying, "Home Economics teachers receive more appreciation for their work than other teachers; this is their greatest reward."

Miss Mary Walker, a representative of Amory Browne Co. of Boston, spoke on "Practical Application of Color to Inexpensive Fabrics." She illustrated her lecture by showing some summer dresses which were

SOPHS SCORE ANOTHER INTERCLASS CUP POINT

20—12 Score of Six Inning Game—Helen Brown and Flora Kaplan Star for '27.

Interclass rivalry among the girls for the possession of the Athletic cup was continued Thursday, May 8, with a baseball game between the freshmen and sophomores. The arrival of the supper hour caused the game to come to a close at the end of the sixth inning. The sophomores won the game with a score of 20—12.

Esther Beers, Marion Wells and Kate Welch secured the greatest number of runs for the frosh, while Helen Brown and Flora Kaplan helped pile up the sophomore score.

The game was umpired by Mr. Guyer. The lineup was as follows:

Sophomores		Freshmen
Brown	p	Welch
Kaplan	c	Wells
Swan	1b	Ashton
Larsen	2b	Buell
Case	3d	Green
Cooper	ss	Law
Conlong	lf	Holmgren
Brockett	cf	Monrad
Mills	rf	Beers

Burdick substituted for Mills last 2 innings.

Buell and Beers also pitched for the frosh.

ANNUAL W. S. G. A. MEETING AT BURLINGTON, VT.

Connecticut Representatives Return with Helpful Ideas—Nine Colleges Represented Discuss Many Phases of Co-education

April 23, 24, and 25 saw the annual Women's Student Government Association Conference held at the University of Vermont, at Burlington. Nine New England Co-ed institutions, including Colby, Bates, University of Maine, New Hampshire State, Middlebury, University of Vermont, Massachusetts Agricultural College, Rhode Island State and Connecticut, were represented.

Miss Irene Cooke, '25, and Miss Olive Nase, '26, who represented C. A. C., came back with enthusiastic reports concerning the conference and of the ideas gained at it. The honor system and the problems of freshman adjustment were especially stressed and the attitude of other and larger colleges was found on these questions.

The conferences are proving a great help and are sure to remain an annual affair. It is hoped that sometime one will be held at C. A. C.

A Money Making Business For You After Graduation Days

JUST listen to this instance. E. I. Hiscox, of East Patchogue, Long Island, is a college man who worked for years in a New York office.

Always he chafed at being tied down to a desk.

Always he wanted to be free to do things that meant sunshine and flowers; health and happiness.

He saw men with seemingly little money build a greenhouse.

He saw one house grow to many.

He saw their owners always strong and well, and getting an abundance of wholesome joy out of life.

So he mortgaged his home, borrowed all he could, and built his first house 40 ft. x 150 ft.

Didn't know a thing about greenhouse growing.

But he found out, and made that first house pay the first year.

He has three now. Three of our finest iron frame houses, growing carnations.

If you like flowers and are not afraid to get some dirt on your hands, here's a contentment-filled, money-making business for you.

Let's get acquainted. Let's start by your writing us asking the questions that right now are popping into your mind.

Here may be the answer to what to do after graduation, to make money and have your share of life's pleasures.

If interested write to the Manager of our Service Department, Ulmer Building, Cleveland, Ohio, who will give it his personal attention.

JACOBY PLACES THIRD AT BOSTON

Running among a field of twenty starters in the fastest competition of the season, Captain Jacoby placed third in the two mile run at the N.E. I.T.M. held at Boston last Saturday afternoon. He also broke his record for this run, doing the two miles in 9 minutes 40 seconds, or 15 seconds less than his previous record established in the New Hampshire meet last week.

NEW HAMPSHIRE BESTS CONN. TRACKSTERS

FIVE AGGIE TRACK RECORDS BROKEN

Captain Jacoby High Scorer for Connecticut

Five Connecticut Aggie track records went by the board on the afternoon of May 15, when New Hampshire easily defeated Connecticut in a dual meet by a score of 87-48.

Captain Jacoby of the Aggies set up a new mark of 9 min. 55 3-5 sec. in the two-mile run, bettering his record made last week in the Intercollegiate at Springfield. Longo of Connecticut set a new mark in the shot put, bettering his own record with a heave of 39 ft. 8 in.

Davis of New Hampshire broke two Aggie records with a high jump of 5 ft. 10 in., and a broad jump of 22 ft. 8 1-2 in. Johnson of Connecticut broke the Aggie record in the high hurdles, turning in a time of 16 2-5 sec.

New Hampshire showed its superiority over the Aggies in practically every event, winning six of the eight running events, and six of the seven field events. Jacoby in the two-mile run, Johnson in the high hurdles and Longo in the shot put, were the only Connecticut men to win their events.

As was expected, the mile and two mile runs furnished interesting competition between Jacoby of the Aggies and Peasley, New Hampshire's crack middle distance flyer. Peasley took the lead at the start, and though pressed hard by Jacoby, managed to come in first at the finish of the mile. In the two mile event, however, Jacoby evened matters with the Granite State flyer. Peasley took the lead in this race, and setting a fast pace, he held it until the last lap. The pace was too much for him, however, and he cracked on the turn, allowing Jacoby to go into the lead and win the race.

AGGIES TAKE SPRING- FIELD INTO CAMP

TIERNAN HITS FOR 1000 PER CENT

Wells Holds the Physical Directors to Five Hits

Playing in rare form last Wednesday, the varsity defeated Springfield College in baseball by a 5-4 score. Wells pitched the entire distance for the Aggies, allowing but five hits, three of which came in the sixth inning, enabling the Physical Directors to score twice. They scored two more runs in the eighth on one hit and a couple of Connecticut misplays.

Connecticut scored first, when in the second inning O'Brien led off with a double. Wardle followed with a clean single, scoring O'Brien, and then Tiernan doubled, scoring Wardle. After Springfield had tied the score at two all in the sixth frame, the Aggies came back strong in their half of the inning and shoved two more runs across the plate. O'Brien started the fireworks again, drawing a pass, and then stealing second. He advanced to third on Wardle's sacrifice fly to center. Tiernan was hit by a pitched ball, and followed this with a steal to second. Berry's error enabled Seymour to reach first safely, filling the bases with only one out. O'Brien stole home, being safe when Hansen dropped the ball. Tiernan was out trying to duplicate O'Brien's feat. Gilbert, batting for Swem, came thru with a double that scored Seymour. Wells fanned, retiring the side.

Tiernan scored the winning run in the eighth, when after leading off with a single, advancing to second on Seymour's sacrifice, he scored on a wild throw over first, which was made in attempt to catch Gilbert in what should have been an easy out.

CLARK WHITEWASHED

Makofski Robbed of No-Hit No-Run Game—Anderson Touched for Eight

The Connecticut Aggies easily defeated Clark University in baseball here, when in the opening event of the Junior Week activities, the Storrs outfit whitewashed the Worcester team by a score of 5-0.

"Bill" Makofski, pitching his first game for the Aggies came close to pitching a no-hit no-run game, as Farrell's single in the seventh was the only safe hit made off the Schenectady boy. Makofski held the Clark batsmen in check at all times, retiring them in 1-2-3 order. But 31 men faced Makofski in nine innings.

Anderson, the Clark pitcher, was touched for 8 hits by the Aggies, which with the poor support accorded him by his teammates gave the Aggies their margin of victory.

Clark's only threat came in the eighth inning, but this was stopped by fast playing on the part of the Aggies. With men on first and second and no outs, Beaton flied out to Tiernan, who threw to third in time to catch Graham. Anderson, next man up was safe on an Aggie error, but the inning ended with no scoring when Sleeper flied out to O'Brien.

RHODE ISLAND TROUNCED

Seymour and Tiernan Knock Circuit Blows—Wells Pitches Fine Game

A heavy hitting and clever fielding Connecticut Aggie baseball team trounced Rhode Island State last week before a large gathering of Junior Prom visitors by a score of 21-6. Coach Dole's men showed their best form of the season, outclassing the Rhode Island team in all departments of the game.

Coach Keaney used three pitchers in an attempt to stop the Aggie onslaught, but their efforts were of little avail. The Aggies connected for 12 hits, including two home runs and three triples, all of which came when there were men on bases. The Rhode Island pitchers were liberal with passes, eight Connecticut men making first via this route.

Connecticut started with a bang in the first inning, gathering eight runs as a result of seven hits in this frame. The Aggies made one each in the third and fifth innings, and then added 7 more in the sixth frame. In the eighth inning the Aggies connected for 4 more.

In a game that was called in the eighth because of rain, on Gardner Dow Field last Saturday, the Connecticut Aggies came from behind to defeat the University of New Hampshire by a score of 7-5. It was an uphill battle for the Aggies, who trailed in the rear until the fifth inning, when they fell on Garvin for five hits and five runs, tying the score. Two more Connecticut tallies in the next inning put the game on ice for the State College team.

Nanfaldt started on the mound for Connecticut but was replaced by Wells in the fifth. It was in this inning that O'Connor lifted one over the tennis courts for a home run, one of the longest clouts seen here this year. There was no one on base at the time.

New Hampshire scored first, when in the second inning Jenkins went from first to home on a wild heave over the base. A misinterpretation of the ground rules on the part of the Connecticut fielders, who thought the runner could take but one base, was responsible for this.

In the fourth, Jenkins led off for New Hampshire with a triple. Campbell walked and Clark singled, scoring Jenkins. French flied out to Wardle, but Campbell scored while an tempt was being made to double up on Clark at first. The Granite Staters scored two more runs in the next frame, when after O'Connor had driven out his circuit clout, Nicora laid down a perfect bunt, took second on a wild throw and scored on Jenkin's single.

Connecticut staged a timely rally in their half of the inning, making five runs and tying the score. Garvin, the New Hampshire twirler, held the Aggies in check at every turn up to this point, but the team found him easy in this inning. With one away, Seymour sent a line drive out to the left fielder, who misjudged it, allowing Seymour to take second and then third on slow handling of the ball. Gilbert, next man up, was walked. Wells came thru with a single to center field that scored Seymour and sent Gilbert to third. Captain Ahern followed with another single, scoring Gilbert and sending Wells to third. Schofield was thrown out at first but Makofski tripled, scoring Wells and Ahern. O'Brien drove out another triple, scoring Makofski and tying the score. O'Brien was caught trying to steal home, retiring the side.

'27, Lawrence Pierpont, '27, Francis Schweitzer, '28 and Catherine Welch, '28.

Donald C. Gaylord, '27 and John C. Fienneman, '27, will continue in their positions as Subscription and Circulation Managers. Horace F. Murphy, '28, and Walter C. Tong, '28, will complete the Business Board by occupying the newly created positions of Assistant Subscription and Assistant Circulation Managers.

Election to the various positions on the Campus Board were based on the experience and ability of those who have contributed to the Campus in the past. Wardle, who will hold the reins of Editor-in-Chief, has been a member of the Campus Board for the past two years and during the present year held the position of Managing Editor. Moreland has been well trained along journalistic lines, having been a member of the Campus for three years as well as being the local correspondent for several newspapers in the state. Belden, who succeeds to the position of Managing Editor, has been a member of the Campus Board during his two years in college. Nelson has been connected with the business end of the paper since his freshman year and during the past year occupied the office of Assistant Business Manager. Gauger who will fill the position left vacant by Nelson, was a member of the Associate Board but has also been actively engaged in the business work of the paper.

Following the established custom, the new board begins its work immediately, thus allowing the senior members of the old board to free themselves from the journalistic difficulties forever being presented to a Campus man, and also to enjoy their few remaining days on the Hill without being the target for disgruntled opponents of the press.

FROSH DEFEATED

In a slow, uninteresting seven inning game the Aggie frosh were defeated by the Springfield yearlings, on Gardner Dow Field last Saturday afternoon, the final score being 8 to 4.

Eddy pitched a good game for the Connecticut cubs but was given poor support by his teammates.

Beech, Springfield's hurler, pitched fine ball, and except for the fifth inning when he was touched for four runs, he had the Aggie batters under his control, fanning thirteen men.

Three New Hampshire errors in the fifth inning enabled the Aggies to score two more runs and put the game on ice. Wardle was safe on Cambell's error. Tiernan was thrown out at first, Wardle going to second. Seymour lifted a high fly to right field, which was misjudged and dropped by O'Connor allowing Wardle to score and Seymour to take second. Gilbert was safe on an error of the second baseman, Seymour scoring the Aggies' seventh run.

There was no further scoring and in the ninth inning, when New Hampshire had one away and a man on base, the game was called because of a heavy downpour of rain. The score:

of the Student Org, Lewis also acts as the presiding officer of the Student Senate. Under the recently passed amendment, he takes office this spring, and with the new Senate carries on the work begun by his predecessors.

Lewis J. Quigley, first vice-president, was on the varsity football squad his freshman and junior years, and on his class basketball team for three years. His major sport is track, in which he has won a letter for three consecutive seasons on the varsity team. Aside from athletics, he was on the Campus board his sophomore year, on the Nutmeg board his junior year, and is a member of the Mediator.

Edwin Lundberg, second vice-president, was on the freshman football and track teams and this year has been on the cross-country team and on the varsity track squad, where injuries have prevented him from competing.

Harold Hadley, secretary, entered with a good athletic record made at Wilby High of Waterbury. Here he has turned out to be a valuable all-around athlete. He was on the frosh football squad last fall, was elected captain of the yearling basketball team, and is now on the baseball squad. He has also been prominent in non-athletic activities.
