As a follow up to his initial presentation at the May meeting, President Babbidge commented further on the proposed new programs for the 1969-71 biennium. The proposed programs and estimated costs were listed in the following order of priority:

- (1) Human Rights and Opportunities ($1 Million). It is proposed that the University develop a number of action programs to extend the resources of the University to the solution of basic problems of the urban society.
- (2) Neural Sciences ($600,000). The program contemplates the interaction of several areas of teaching and research including behavioral genetics, physical anthropology, physiological psychology and neuroendocrinology.
- (3) Veterinary Medicine ($250,000). The 1967 General Assembly authorized the initial steps for the creation of a veterinary medicine program in providing space for the development of the core program in animal diseases. It is proposed that the 1969 Session authorize a capital building program and an operating budget for the development of a planning staff and basic faculty positions.

- (4) Animal Care ($60,000). It is increasingly important to maintain a central University program for procurement and care of animals for research purposes.
- (5) Environmental Sciences ($140,000). An interdependence and unity exists among the sciences concerned with the environment. The University is well represented in a number of fields including environmental biology, civil engineering, and plant science. The immediate requirement is personnel and financial support in climatology and meteorology to provide a working group to be recruited in conjunction with the development of the marine sciences and environmental biology.
- (6) Municipal Technology ($115,000). The program will have four principal dimensions. (a) Educational course and seminar opportunities for state and local government employees and officials in the subject fields of information technology and urban management systems; (b) research and development of municipal information and related urban management systems adaptable to the specific requirements of individual towns and cities; (c) technical assistance to Connecticut local governments and public schools in the adaptation of municipal systems research; and (d) publication of specialized education and training materials and results of municipal systems research.
- (7) Environmental Design (Architecture $345,000). The program has as a long-term objective the development of a basic design curriculum at the undergraduate level and graduate programs in such areas as architecture, urban design, city and regional planning, and landscape architecture. The manner in which the program will develop should complement and enhance the existing University resources in engineering, agriculture, urban research, and social work, all of which have aspects related to planning or design.

In addition to the above programs, the President indicated that a graduate program in nursing leading to the master's degree would be offered since funds requested in the 1969-71 biennium will provide for an appropriate staff additions.

After lengthy discussion, THE BOARD VOTED, with Mr. Bishop abstaining, to authorize the new programs as presented by President Babbidge and to include the estimated costs in the University's budget presentation.

9. On the recommendation of President Babbidge and Mr. Evans, THE BOARD VOTED to approve the following adjustments in the capital budget request for the 1969-71 biennium:

	Estimated Project Cost	Estimate of Federal Contribution	Federal Source (in thousands)	Estimate of State Contribution

3. Land Acquisition	500	-		500

10. Mr. Evans reminded the Board that the Commission for Higher Education in consultation with the Commissioner of Finance and Control has been asked by the Board to study the cost problem relative to additional dormitory facilities. Pending a report from the Commission for Higher Education, THE BOARD VOTED to enumerate only the additional facilities required in the budget presentation:

Dormitories - Storrs Campus
1969-71: 1100 undergraduate beds, 530 graduate beds,
1400 dining hall seats.

11. Upon introduction by Chairman Budds, THE BOARD VOTED to adopt the following resolution:

"In the conviction that responsible and mature student members of the academic community can make significant contributions in matters affecting the governance and policy of the University, the Board of Trustees desires to establish on a continuing basis an appropriate channel of improved communication between itself and the student body of the University. It therefore requests the President to explore ways of accomplishing this objective in the most satisfactory possible manner. Since the existing Trustee-Administration-Faculty Committee has, in the opinion of the Board, demonstrated great value as a mechanism for communication, one particular suggestion that should be given careful consideration is the enlargement of this committee to include student representation."

12. Mr. Bishop in reporting on the recent meeting of the Commission for Higher Education indicated that Mr. Parrish's presentation as Chairman of the University's Council on Human Rights and Opportunities had been received with interest.
13. Mr. Nielsen's motion to go into executive session, seconded by Mr. Holt, was approved unanimously by the Trustees. While in executive session, the Board took the following actions:
